The Amendment Celebration.

Bowen and his friends played a sharp game on the House of Representatives during the morning hour to-day, and were quietly snubbed for it just before adjournment. The circumstances were these: Some time since, the "Boys in Blue" made arrangements to celebrate the fifteenth amendment on the fifteenth instant, and extensive preparations have been making. The leading men in the "Boys in Blue" happen to be opposed to Bowen's re-election, so the friends of the latter met and agreed to celebrate the anniversary of emancipation, which falls on the sixteenth in connection with the amendment, but fixed on the thirteenth instead, in order to forestall the demonstration of the "Boys in Blue." The next step was to secure the introduction of a resolution allowing the use of the hall of the House, which was carried. Within an hour the real character of the trick played on the House by a faction of the city party became known, and as soon as the Committee of the Whole rose the resolution to allow the use of the hall was rescinded by nearly a unanimous vote. A resolution was passed requiring the Speaker to appoint a committee of five to confer with the colored citizens, and agree upon the manner in which the House should participate. Great laughter was created when the names of Messrs. Cox and Eldridge were read as two of the committee. Mr. Cox, as soon as the roar of laughing had subsided, rose and got even with General Butler for his "shoo fly" retort, by announcing to the House that he would not object to acting on the Committee of Arrangements, providing the gentleman from Massachusetts would enliven the exercises with some of his choice gems of negro minstrelsy. Mr. Eldridge peremptorily refused, but afterwards repented, and the whole Committee soon after met a large delegation from the city. While they were very busy perfecting the order of exercises, a messenger came in, and announced that the House had rescinded the resolution granting the use of the hall. At this, those who had arranged the trick, after spending a few minutes in growling at the House, sneaked off to the City Hall.

The Louisville Canal.

The statement that the Louisville canal company have one hundred and fifty thousand dollars on deposit, which could be used on the work in place of any appropriation is an error. This sum is a sinking fund, held to meet part of the bonds falling due in January next. The whole sum on deposit will not cover their indebtedness.

Secret Ballots.

Mr. Lawrence, of Ohio, to-day introduced a bill providing for secret ballot at State elections. It was drawn up to meet the law lately passed in Virginia, prescribing that no vote shall be counted unless the voter's name is written on it. Referred to Committee on Reconstruction.

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

The Northern Pacific Railroad bill, about which there is so much talk in the Senate, has for its object three things, viz: to make a land grant for the branch line from Portland, Oregon, to Puget Sound, which now has nothing but the right of way; to authorize the company to mortgage its whole line and all its lands, and to give it more land than it can now get under existing laws. The chief debate is on the provision last named. The original act of six years ago gives the Company the odd sections of land within ten miles on each side of the line in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Oregon, and within twenty miles on each side in all Territories. Since it was passed settlers have taken up some land in the States, and the Company now asks to have the original grant made good by an extension of ten miles on each side the line of the limit within which it may make elections.

The Tariff Bill

Drags dreadfully in the House, and though eight days have been spent on it, only one quarter of it has been considered, and the great questions at issue on iron, steel, coal, salt, hides and the free list have not been reached. A good deal of the work has been done when a bare quorum was present, and there is a scattering among members every day when it is taken up. Its friends work pretty well together, while the opposition is not organized. Talk was quite general to-day, that a motion to send it to the table will be made the last of this week.

The Freedmen's Bureau Bill.

The bill closing up the Freedmen's Bureau, and transferring its educational work to the Bureau of Education has been favorably reported in the Senate by the Retrenchment Committee, with three or four amendments, the only one of consequence being that providing for the recovery of money and property by the Commissioner of Education through process in the United States Circuit Court.

Railroad in Mexico.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee to-day gave a hearing to Gen. Rosecrans, who wants the Government sanction in the way of a charter to his scheme looking to the opening of a railroad and establishment of a bank in Mexico. He speaks of it quite enthusiastically, but it does not seem to be a case in which Congress can interfere.

The Saturday Sessions.

Generals Schenck and Butler got beaten in the House to-day on their proposition to do away with Saturday sessions, and make up for it by sitting half an hour longer on other days. Mr. Dawes called attention to the state of public business, and carried his point against them by twenty majority.

Joy in the House of Colfax.

At this hour (10 P. M.,) of Monday April 11th, 1870, the fine and healthy son of Vice President Colfax is eight hours of age, and his mother is in an easy and comfortable condition.

A Gentle Back Set.

The Judiciary Committee have to-day given General Butler a gentle back set. He applied to the full Committee for authority to bring a witness before the bar of the House in case he refused to answer his questions. The Committee would not agree to delegate any such general power, and required General Butler to submit the questions he proposed to ask. This he in turn declined to do, and so each has bottled up the other for the time being.

Lively Scene in the Supreme Court.

There was a very lively scene in the Supreme Court this morning, the oldest lawyers practicing there having witnessed nothing like it in their day. It arose in connection with the legal tender case, which it was expected would be again argued on its merits. At the proper hour, Mr. Potter, of New York, who is counsel in one of the cases on which the Court had consented to hear further argument, in effect asked a postponement for the reason that the senior counsel was engaged elsewhere, and others were absent on account of illness. The Attorney General responded against postponement, and in the course of his remarks spoke of the necessity for an early hearing and decision, because the country is disturbed, and will continue disturbed till the whole question at issue is settled. He also alluded to the fact that these two cases involve points somewhat like those in the case recently decided, and in reply to Mr. Potter denied that any order had been made which precluded a rehearing on the point then decided. The Chief Justice here interrupted to say that according to his recollection no such an order had been made. This was said with evident feeling, and Justice Miller remarked with equal feeling that he knew of no such order. Justice Nelson came to the rescue of the Chief Justice, and Justice Davis spoke up that he concurred with Justice Miller. The Chief Justice repeated his statement with emphasis, and hardly suppressed passion, and then upon the suggestion of Justice Davis, who remarked that it was not worth while to bandy words, it was decided that the cases might go over to next Monday. The Attorney General meantime bowed to the recollection of the Chief Justice, and merely expressed his regret that in a matter of this importance there was no record. The point on which this dispute, so astonishing in the Supreme Court, came up seems to be whether there was or was not such an order made when Mr. Evarts was Attorney General as prevents further hearing on the question whether the legal tender act applies to debts contracted before its passage.

WASHINGTON, April 11, 1870.

STORMY TIME IN SPAIN.

The latest official advices from Minister Sickles predicted a stormy time in Spain. General Sickles expressed the belief that events are rapidly progressing to a crisis, and some important movement, either on the part of Prim or his opponents, must soon be made. Some official information is to the effect that in the midst of all these troubles Prim and Sickles found time to talk about Cuban affairs and the chances of some agreement with the United States for the purchase of the island. Prim is said to have bluntly told General Sickles that the permanent subjugation of Cuba by Spain was not considered probable, and that he himself was ready, when a proper opportunity offered, to come to an understanding with the United States, but that at the present time, while Spain was troubled at home by internal dissensions, and while Cubans combined to defy the power of the mother country, the serious opening for negotiations for the purchase of the island must be regarded as impracticable.

LEGAL TENDER ARGUMENT POSTPONED.

The argument in the pending legal tender cases in the Supreme Court has been postponed till next Monday, owing to the illness of counsel.

DR. HAYES'S VIEWS ON THE ARCTIC EXPEDITION.

Dr. Hayes was before the House Committee on Appropriations to-day, and gave his views as to the propriety of fitting out an expedition to the Arctic regions at the Government's expense. He explained its practicability, and showed the advantage which would result to science by a thorough exploration to the open polar sea which Dr. Kane and himself had reached. He would found a colony in Smith's Sound, and in the spring cross the ice belt to Grinnell's Land, where he would establish a depot of supplies, and thence with boats push out towards the Pole. He did not believe in the existence of land at the North Pole, but was satisfied an open sea would be found. He expressly stated that he did not appear before the Committee in his own personal behalf, but by invitation and at the request of gentlemen interested in scientific progress. He took the broad ground that whatever was to be done by the Government should be done with a view to undoubted success.

CONGRESS.

Transportation of Cattle by Railroad.

Progress of the Tariff Bill, &c., &c.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 11, 1870.

SENATE.

Mr. SUMNER offered a resolution directing the Committee on Agriculture to inquire what legislation is necessary for the regulation of the transportation of cattle and other animals on railroads of the United States, so as to secure for animals sufficient space and ventilation. Adopted.

The Northern Pacific Railroad bill was taken up and discussed until adjournment.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

A resolution was adopted granting the use of the Hall of Representatives to the colored people for the celebration of the ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment, on Wednesday evening, the House to participate.

A bill was introduced to regulate the mode of selecting candidates for the Military and Naval Academies.

The House then went into committee on the tariff bill, resuming consideration of the paragraph taxing women's and children's dress goods.

On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, it was amended by inserting the words "silk not being a component material thereof of chief value."

The next paragraph, taxing clothing and wearing apparel of every description, and balmoral and other skirts and skirting, composed wholly or in part of woolen, worsted, hair of goats or other animals, except knit goods, 50 cents per pound and 40 per cent. ad valorem, was similarly amended.

The next paragraph, taxing webbing, bindings, braids, galloons, fringes, gimps and head nets manufactured or made wholly or in part of wool, worsted or goats' hair, 50 cents per pound and 35 per cent. ad valorem, was similarly amended, and also by inserting before the word 'wool,' the words "cotton, linen."

The next paragraph, taxing cords, tassels, buttons and ornaments for dresses and outside garments, made wholly or in part of wool or goats' hair, 60 per cent. ad valorem. The same amendment as to silk was adopted thereto.

The next paragraph was that taxing carpets. Mr. BROOKS, of New York, moved to strike out the paragraph, and had read from the Clerk's desk an editorial from the Chicago Tribune, which he said had more influence on public opinion than forty members of Congress, showing that of $21,000,000 paid by the people last year under the tax on carpets, only $2,215,000 went into the Treasury, the other $19,000,000 being divided as extra profits among American carpet manufacturers. He added that the enactment of the paragraph voted millions into the hands of a very few men in the middle States and in New England.

Mr. BROOKS'S amendment was rejected and the paragraph passed over without amendment, except to insert Brussels carpet at 28 cents per yard, and 25 per cent. ad valorem.

Mr. MYERS opposed the amendment, and replied to Mr. Brooks, stating that there were in his own district 7,000 people engaged in the industry of carpet making, and the policy of free trade would shut the factories against those people.

Mr. SCHENCK explained that the paragraph was but a re-enactment of the present law, with two exceptions. One of these was that Brussels carpet, under an amendment which had just been adopted, was brought down from 44 to 28 cents, and the other was a cheaper kind of carpet down from 25 cents to 12 cents per square yard.

Mr. COX protested against the whole bill as a miserable scheme got up to help a few Pennsylvanians and New Englanders.

Mr. BROOKS moved to reduce it to 40. Both

The next paragraph was in reference to oil cloths. On motion of Mr. SCHENCK, it was amended so as to read: "On oil cloths for floors, stamped or printed, 45 per cent. ad valorem; on silk oil cloth, 60 per cent. ad valorem."

No amendment was offered to the three following paragraphs in reference to spun and thrown silk.

The next paragraph was that taxing silk buttons and outside garments, 50 per cent. ad valorem. Mr. KELLOGG moved to increase duty to 60 per cent.

were rejected.

No amendments were offered to the two following paragraphs in reference to silk plush and silk laces.

The next paragraph was, on motion of Mr. SCHENCK, amended to read: "On all manufactures of mixed materials, silk being the component part of chief value, and not otherwise herein provided for, 60 per cent. ad valorem."

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, moved to add a new paragraph taxing at 25 per cent. ad valorem webbing composed of silk and rubber or silk and other material, silk being the material of chief value, used in the manufacture of shoes.

Mr. WASHBURN, of Massachusetts, opposed the amendment, and Mr. JENCKS moved to make the duty 50 per cent.

Without disposing of either amendment the Committee rose, having gone through over three pages of the bill.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, asked unanimous consent to introduce a joint resolution to annex the Republic of Dominica.

Mr. BROOKS, of New York, objected unless Ireland were annexed too, paying for it with Alabama claims.

Mr. BUTLER said they had plenty of Ireland now, but none of Dominica.

Mr. KELSEY, of New York, moved to rescind the resolution adopted to-day, granting the use of the hall for the celebration of the Fifteenth Amendment. The resolution was rescinded without a division.

The House then adjourned.

MORE BOMBAST FROM DE RODAS.

The Insurrection Dropping to Pieces—The Leaders Leaving the Country—Anarchy, Panic and Desertion.

HAVANA, April 9.—A telegram from Captain General De Rodas, dated Puerto Principe, 8th, is published to-day. He states that two columns of Spanish troops had returned without meeting the enemy. The forces were then provisioned for two months, and sent to occupy Guanac and Najaza. Two men and one woman, spies, were caught. The men were executed and the woman pardoned. A great amount of important correspondence was captured, and much property of the rebels destroyed. The insurgent advance guard surrendered voluntarily. They report that Enrique Agramonte, Francisco Castillo, Gaspar Betancourt, Diego Aguero and an American named Maquet, were the chief leaders of the insurgents, and some of them had embarked and fled from the country, after having fought among themselves. Some of the insurgents had issued an order punishing with death whoever accepts De Rodas's amnesty proclamation. Cespedes intends to leave the country. He will be actively pursued. Anarchy, panic and desertions prevail everywhere among the rebels. Some have raised the standard of revolt against Agramonte, owing to his tyrannical behavior. Yesterday the leaders of this revolt assassinated fourteen of their own men for the purpose of robbery. This news, which is regarded as official, has caused great rejoicing here.

THE McFARLAND TRIAL.

TESTIMONY FOR THE DEFENSE.

Was McFarland of Unsound Mind?

NEW YORK, April 11.—At the McFarland trial this morning there was a large attendance. The jury was polled and recorded. It was announced that the trial would be continued in the new court house rooms of Oyer and Terminer. Mrs. Oliver, sworn, testified to the insanity of the prisoner's cousin.

Wm. J. McGrath testified that he was clerk attached to the halls of justice, and produced from the records a commitment of Francis McFarland to the Lunatic Asylum on Blackwell's Island as a dangerous lunatic. The commitment was granted on a certificate of his physician, stating that Francis McFarland was suffering from alienation of mind, and was incapable of distinguishing between right and wrong. Nothing material was elicited on the cross examination.

John W. Billings testified that he had known the prisoner after he saw him between the years 1859 and 1861; remembers his having been a commissioner of enrollments; he had a desk in witness's office; saw him on the 25th of November, 1869, opposite the New York Hotel; it was about twenty minutes past four in the afternoon; saw him coming three or four yards before they met; his appearance was different from what it used to be when he knew him; witness stopped him, asked where he was going and was he ill; he said no; witness asked where he was going; he said he was going to the New York Hotel; witness tried to dissuade him from going down, but without effect; his look was most peculiar, and he was convinced he was not in his right mind; he said he should be going, as the stars would be out soon; had seen him about two weeks before on Broadway; his condition then was about the same as it had been for two years previous; McFarland never met witness but he would talk about his suit against Richardson, and about Richardson seducing his wife; was slightly acquainted with prisoner's wife; she sometime came to the office, bringing little Percy with her; husband and wife were very affectionate towards each other, calling each other "my dear" and "my darling;" the prisoner often spoke to witness about his wife and children in terms of affectionate solicitude; saw the youngest boy, Daniel, at the office in the fall of 1865; the father was very affectionate towards the child; saw McFarland after his return from Boston, where he had been to try and recover possession of the children; prisoner came into his office and sat down; he would sit in his chair, then start up and walk about crying and saying aloud, "I loved my wife, and Oh, God! they have taken her away;" witness tried to calm him but was unable; told McFarland he would get sick if he continued in this way; I thought he was hardly rational; I had two or three such conversations with him; on one occasion McFarland said, "I would rather be in my grave than not have my children," he said when he thought of his children having some other father beside him, he could not endure it, and it made him wild; in July, 1867, he was in my office, and looked very sick; he then went out and I did not see him for two months, during which time he had been ill with fever in Staten Island; he said he spent between $3,000 and $4,000 in his endeavors to get them; he said he had commenced the civil suit in order to show to the community what a libertine and thief Richardson was; he said Richardson was wealthy and would use his money to defeat him; I felt his pulse before he went to Staten Island, and told him it was up to 150; he said it was that way for three or four months; McFarland complained a great deal of his head; there was water in my office, and he always washed his head with it when he came to see me; he said he did not want to sleep and could not sleep; when he got Percy back he said, "Here is one of the boys, and I'm bound to get the other;" in 1868 I saw McFarland near Waverly Place; he looked careworn and haggard, and went over his family grievances; I supposed in the long run that his excitement and trouble would kill him; saw him again near the Astor House in August, 1869; he again spoke of Richardson and his wife and children.

Cross examined—Remember the prisoner saying to him that Judge Sanford was his attorney in the habeas corpus matter; was not aware what were the prisoner's duties in the Assessor's office; he was engaged in those duties during the period referred to by witness; previously, when McFarland used to speak to him in an incoherent manner, was unaware what business prisoner was engaged in in 1867; there was the usual crowd of people on Broadway on the 25th of November when he met prisoner opposite the New York Hotel; asked McFarland repeatedly what was the matter with him; it was rather in his look and manner that there was something irrational than in his conversation; there was a look in his eye which language was powerless to express; the words themselves were not incoherent; his appearance was woe begone and as if he had a heavy load on his mind; the only incoherent expression the prisoner used was when he asked him to go home with him, he (McFarland) said "No, the stars will be out soon;" in the other interviews to which witness had testified, prisoner always acted incoherently; he would walk up and down, crying out, "My God! they have taken my children from me; I would rather be in my grave."

Re-examined—When he met prisoner on the 25th of November, his eyes were rolling wildly and his mouth twitching; on several occasions he asked the prisoner why he did not let the matter rest, and the prisoner would say, "Rest? My God! there is no rest for me this side of the grave;" the prisoner once told him he had been offered a consulship and ten thousand dollars to settle the suit instituted by him against Richardson.

Joseph C. Nanes, Notary Public, testified: He had known McFarland since May, 1867, witness saw prisoner on the 25th of November last at his office on Broadway, a little before 5 o'clock P. M.; on that occasion prisoner came in in a great state of excitement and frenzy, and said, "My God! what do you think? my wife has got a divorce, and is living with Richardson; I am ruined; I'll go home and kill myself;" witness said to his clerk that McFarland ought to be taken care of and sent to a lunatic asylum; had seen the letter produced (the intercepted one); it was shown him by McFarland when he (witness) was appointed to take testimony in the habeas corpus case. [The list of the witnesses in the habeas corpus case was here read by Mr. Graham.] He (witness) considered the prisoner insane; his appearance was that of a man bereft of reason; at times his conversation was wild, irrational and always on the same topic; he often threatened to kill himself; he always spoke of his wife and children affectionately, saying it would be the death of him to lose them; he considered Richardson the cause of all his troubles; he often said to witness that he could not sleep—that his brain was on fire; witness examined Richardson on the 7th of June, 1867; conversed with him on that occasion in relation to Mrs. McFarland; Richardson said to him Mrs. McFarland would never live with her husband again; that he would marry her the moment he could procure a divorce; he also stated that Mrs. McFarland was an intelligent woman, and he was determined to marry her. Witness related the conversation to McFarland, when the latter wept like a child and appeared completely distracted.

Recess for twenty minutes. Upon the reassembling of the Court Mr. Nanes was cross-examined by the District Attorney, and testified in relation to the habeas corpus investigation; all the witnesses were examined separately; the testimony of Richardson was taken questions and answers; McFarland did not take copies of the depositions; no counsel appeared on either side; McFarland, on the 25th of November, spoke of Richardson being about to marry his wife, and intending to go to California.

Jas. Taylor testified: He resided on Eleventh street near Fourth avenue, and was a clerk in the employ of the last witness, witness described the appearance of prisoner when he came into his employer's office on November 25th; his evidence differed in no material particular from that given by Mr. Nanes; witness always had an impression that McFarland was out of his mind, and on the 25th of November he was laboring under more than ordinary excitement—in fact appeared distracted; on several occasions he saw McFarland crying when talking about his wrongs; heard him say Richardson had ruined him; McFarland often threatened to commit suicide; he would say his home was broken up and he had no desire to live; witness on one occasion told him to keep a stiff upper lip. [Laughter.]

On cross-examination nothing material was elicited.

Merritt Wickham testified: He was an examiner of merchandise; that was his business in November last; saw the prisoner on the 25th of November on Broadway, about 4:30 P. M.; witness was with his wife; McFarland had a wild look in his eyes; his hands were working, and he appeared very much excited; he remarked upon his wild appearance to his wife; prisoner was formerly employed in the United States Appraiser's office; he understood he was removed from his inability to discharge his duties; while in office prisoner had a habit of talking to his fingers; he would sit for a long time by himself, muttering indistinctly; often met McFarland in the street; after the year 1867 he was always speaking of his children, and in a most affectionate way; he was very fond of his wife; never saw McFarland drink liquor at that time; in his judgment prisoner was not in his right mind.

Cross-examined—Prisoner was coming down town when he met him on the 25th; witness said, "how are you, Mac," and he bowed; first noticed the change in prisoner's appearance in March, 1867; his duties in the office were to enter invoices in a book provided for the purpose; McFarland at first performed his duties well, but afterwards he did so badly that it was said he would have to vacate; witness was asked whether he had not been a witness for McFarland on the habeas corpus commission, and whether he had not testified prisoner was an industrious man, well qualified to take care of his children. This question was also objected to, unless the deposition made by witness on the occasion in question was first produced. After a long argument between counsel, His Honor reserved his decision as to the admissibility of the question.

Mr. Charles S. Spencer at this point stated that he had just learned the trial of Edward Perry for murder, had been forced on by the prosecuting officer in the county of Kings, notwithstanding His Honor, the District Attorney, and other prominent citizens had written to him asking a postponement.

Mr. Graham said he was sorry to part with his colleague, but necessity required it, and he should be dispensed with.

James O'Brien, a policeman, testified: He was on duty on the night of the 24th of November; knew prisoner; saw him on the morning of the day of the occurrence between twelve and one o'clock in Eleventh street; prisoner accosted him and throwing up his arms said, "O'Brien, did you hear the news, that that ruffian Richardson has married my wife and taken her and my children away? He has even changed the name of my dear boy Danny;" he appeared quite distracted; prisoner was in the habit of walking on his beat; he never talked on any subject but his wrongs and his family; witness tried to get him off that subject, as he felt for him, but his efforts were ineffectual; McFarland often threatened to kill himself; witness said to him, "Mac, if I was you I would not bother with that woman," and he replied, "Oh, O'Brien, you don't know how I have suffered;" on one occasion McFarland was offered ten thousand dollars and a consulate to give up his wife," and he (witness) said "Mac, you are a fool; I'd give up such a woman for ten thousand cents," but prisoner replied, "I would not give up my children for a consulship to the court of heaven."

Witness was cross-examined by the District Attorney, but no new facts elicited.

At the conclusion of his testimony the Court adjourned till to-morrow.

THE LATE LEGISLATURE.

Private Legislation Coming to Light—Feed Attorneys.

What has and what has not been done at Harrisburg the past winter by the Pennsylvania Legislature will not be known for some time yet, as the manner in which bills were rushed through in the last moments of that now defunct and decomposed body, prevented even the phonographers from catching the titles of them. The people of Philadelphia are awaking to the fact that a number of bills seriously affecting their interests have been whirled through both Houses with wonderful velocity. For instance the Union Passenger Railway, of which Wm. V. McGrath, of Ridgeway, M. S. Quay, and others are directors, had a bill passed giving them exclusive privileges over up-town streets. The Bulletin says: "It is a positive fact that the whole of this part of the bill was concealed from the members of the House. Only the first part of the bill was read, and the members allowed it to pass because it was understood to give some unimportant privileges of connection at the southern end of the road. The sections giving the important up-town privileges were never read to the House nor passed by its members, nevertheless a bill in the form in which it has appeared in the public prints is certified to as having actually passed both House and Senate.

Referring to the report that a charter has been granted for a railroad along Wissahickon turnpike, the Bulletin calls it an outrage, and says: "Legislation is become a mere farce. No man's property is secure, no rights are too sacred to be invaded, no scandal too great to be perpetrated. Nothing short of turning the Susquehanna through the halls of the Legislature could purify them after the deeds of the past winter."

The Harrisburg Topic concludes an article on the Legislature as follows: "Just at this moment we have no hesitation in declaring that the private legislation of the Legislature just adjourned is calculated for and will do public interests great injury. Corrupt means were of course resorted to to secure the success of these measures. Nine out of ten of all the lawyers in both Houses were feed attorneys of those who sought these favors. So that men who were sworn to act impartially in disposing of the business of the State, salved their consciences by thus accepting a fee which honest people cannot see in any other light than as a bribe. Is it possible to find men to act as Senators and Representatives, who can resist such influences? We should like to see the experiment made."

A telegram from Rome says that one Dr. Strossmayer declared, at a recent sitting of the Ecumenical Council, that a new dogma of faith could not be established without a moral unanimity of the Fathers. He was immediately ordered by the President to leave the Council. The incident gave rise to a tumultuous scene in the assembly.

Lopez Turns upon His Pursuers and Defeats Them—The Ministerial Troubles in France—Probable Resignation of Count Daru—The Dogma of Infallibility to be Adopted by Proclamation on Monday Next—Strike in Paris, &c., &c.

The French Ministerial Crisis.

LONDON, April 11.—The Times says the successors of Buffett and Daru will not take their places in the Cabinet of Ollivier until after the plebiscite. Ollivier and Parien will take charge of the ministry ad interim. The plebiscite will be taken during the first week in May.

A dispatch from Paris states that the ministerial crisis is due to the objections of a portion of the Cabinet to the continuance of plebiscitary power in the hands of the Executive.

PARIS, April 11, Noon.—It is probable Count Daru will resign the foreign office. While it is true changes are imminent in the Ministry, and rumor has associated the names of several gentlemen with positions in the new Cabinet, up to this hour but one withdrawal has actually occurred, that of Buffet, Financial Secretary.

Erie Put on Call.

Erie sixes were admitted to the Stock Board here.

A Shuffling Irish Policy.

The Pall Mall Gazette censures Gladstone's shuffling policy on Irish matters, and predicts the defeat of the Irish land bill on account of the obscurity, complication and ambiguity of its provisions. The same paper urges the instant dispatch of a frigate to the fisheries, to watch the American war steamer there.

Lopez Wins a Victory.

LONDON, April 11.—Advices from Paraguay state that President Lopez suddenly turned upon and surprised his pursuers, winning quite a victory. It is thought that this advantage would result in an indefinite prolongation of the war.

The French Ministry.

The resignation of Count Daru is imminent. Should he withdraw other ministers will follow. The report gains credence that the Emperor is acting under the influence of Rouher.

In the Corps Legislatif to-day, Jules Favre expressed regret at the resignation of Buffet, who, he said, had shown a disposition to stand up for the prerogatives of the Chamber, and was a defender of order and liberty. M. Segris, replying to Favre, described him as a defender of the Republic, but an adversary of liberty. This produced much excitement, and called forth exclamations from all sides. M. Ollivier addressed the Chambers, and while reviewing the events of the past week, was interrupted with cries of "you made promises." In the course of his speech he expressed the opinion that one day would be sufficient for taking the vote of the nation on the plebiscitum.

Finances of Great Britain.

LONDON, April 11.—The House of Commons had a special sitting to-day, when Mr. Lowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submitted the annual budget. Mr. Lowe makes a most satisfactory exhibit of the financial condition of the Government. His budget shows that the total amount of revenue received from all sources during the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1870, was £75,324,000, and exceeded the estimate by £1,819,000. Of the total receipts customs produced £21,529,000, against £21,650,000 estimated; excise £21,763,000, against £20,000,000 estimated; stamps £9,248,000, against £8,850,000 estimated; taxes £4,500,000, the amount estimated, and income tax £10,044,000, against £9,360,000 estimated. The new methods of collecting taxes yield £1,134,000 more than was anticipated. The total expenditures for the fiscal year were £67,564,000, against an estimate of £68,408,000. The estimate for the payment of interest on the debt fell £350,000 short of the amount required. The expenses of the army and navy underran the estimates. The surplus realized was £7,870,000, of which £4,300,000 has been expended in payment of the debt from the Abyssinian expedition. The expenditures for the current fiscal year ending March 31st, 1871, are estimated by Mr. Lowe at £17,113,000, which he says falls $11,730,000 below the total amount of the grants for the past year.

Mr. Lowe said the budget proposed to abolish game licenses, and impose a pound duty on fire arms. This change is expected to result in doubling the revenue from this source, which amounted last year to £150,000. It is also proposed that savings bank stock be turned into terminable annuities. The malt tax is untouched, and beer is left tax free. Farmers are to be allowed to steep their own barley. A decline in the revenue from sugar is noticed, also in the revenues on foreign liquors and wines. The increase of revenue on tobacco is £121,000, and on tea £55,000. Mr. Lowe remarked that a free breakfast was still impossible, in view of the size of the debt. He was prepared to remit the tax on soap and paper makers, to equalize the duties on English and foreign bills, to abolish newspaper stamps, and to reduce newspaper postage to half penny for six ounces. He suggests that the income tax be reduced to four pence, and sugar relieved of half the duty now imposed on it. These, with some minor remissions in favor of the agricultural interest mainly, will make a reduction on the surplus of £3,960,000.

Mr. Lowe closed his explanation of the budget with a motion that the duty on sugar be reduced one half. Messrs. Baring and Crawford and others spoke briefly on the budget, taking different views. Mr. White complained of the retention of any duty on sugar. G. W. Hunt, former Chancellor of the Exchequer, congratulated Mr. Lowe on the fact that he had followed him in a happy time and under auspicious circumstances, when the Abyssinian war was ended and expenditures for military and naval improvements were freely reduced. Mr. Smith, member for Stockport, eulogized the efforts of America to reduce her debt, and urged imitation of her example.

General debate followed, in which Messrs. Read and Fowler, Lord Barry and Mr. Booth were the principal speakers. Mr. Lowe replied briefly, and the budget was passed.

After a brief discussion upon the question of purity of elections, the House adjourned.

THE OIL REGIONS.

OPERATIONS DURING MARCH.

The Production, Development, Number of Wells Drilling, Stock on Hand and Shipments.

The Titusville Herald's petroleum report for the month of March, says there was no great alteration in the total yield of oil during the month. On upper Cherry run there was a considerable increase, but in all other districts in which there was not a decrease, the enlargement was small. Among the latter are the Tidioute and West Hickory districts, Charley and Shaffer runs, Shaw farm, Pithole, Bean & Lillie farms and vicinity. Church run and vicinity, Storey farm, two or three of the small producing tracts on Cherry run, and the Allegheny river district, south of Franklin, in which we include the Parker's Landing and adjacent oil field. The product of the principal farms on Cherry-tree run, as well as the older and more thoroughly developed tracts on upper Cherry run, exhibits a falling off at the close of the month, as also did the Foster and Gregg farms, Bull and Cow runs. At Foster farm, on the Allegheny river, the product for the entire month was about twenty-five barrels less daily than in February. On lower Cherry run there was a decrease of perhaps fifty barrels daily, and on the Blood, Rynd, Steele and other farms near the mouth of Oil creek, there was a slight falling off.

The following table shows the production during March, 1870:

Total shipment of crude for March of bb's of 45 gallons each	331,679
Add to reduce to bbls of 43 gallons each	14,573
Total shipment of bbls of 43 gallons each	359,252
Stock on hand March 1st	351,474
Stock on hand April 1st	385,157
Add increase on April 1st	33,683
Total production during March	383,935
Average per day for thirty-one days	12,385
Average per day in March, 1869	9,791
Daily increase March, 1870, over March 1869	2,594

An effort is being made to reclaim the flat portion of the Tarr and Blood farms, which was at one time the best producing territory on oil creek, but which has been "flooded" and consequently non-productive for years. Nearly all the old wells on both farms have been "plugged" or started up, and the water in each well lowered materially. At the close of the month the flats were producing about forty barrels daily, with a prospect of a much larger production in the future.

The gravity of the product has not changed since our last report, unless perhaps a slight inclination towards improvement. The average gravity is now from one-half to two degrees lower than in August and September of last year. This is due to the fact that less benzine is used in the wells. There are no longer any such grounds for complaint among refiners and shippers as formerly existed, owing to the free use of benzine, and it should be the aim of well owners to maintain, as far as possible, the present gravity.

THE DEVELOPMENT AND THE TERRITORY.

In the number of wells in process of drilling on April first, the returns from all farms, tracts, and districts, show an increase of thirty-five, and a total of 433. This is a larger number than has actually been drilling at any time of which we have any record since oil developments were first begun. Besides the capital which has accumulated from the sales of oil, there is also a considerable amount being invested in sinking wells and the purchase of undeveloped territory by Pittsburgh, New York and other outside capitalists. There are now from three to five hundred leases in the entire region on which wells are being commenced, or on which by the terms of contract wells will be commenced during the next three or four months.

There has been a slight revival in the West Hickory district of late, in consequence of the known producing lands having been greatly enlarged by the striking of moderately producing wells, located at a considerable distance from those which were producing at the date of our last report. These successful strikes have again called the attention of operators to that vicinity, and many leases have been taken, while operations on the old leases are being prosecuted with energy. This district embraces from three to four square miles, and the limits have not yet been ascertained.

Some of the land interests have been wise enough to limit the number of producing wells to one on every five acres, and we are glad to notice that the plan has been favorably received by most of them. At Parker's Landing there were no new developments of consequence so far as the enlargement of the territory was concerned, but as previously stated the extent of this territory, though it covers from six to eight square miles, has not yet been found.

The drilling of new wells and the commencement of others, is going on without abatement, and there is every reason to believe that there will be from four to five hundred producing wells in this district by July 1st.

On the Henderson farm and in its vicinity, near Tidioute, several new wells were commenced during the month. On Upper Cherry run, and between that point and Pithole, developements are progressing rapidly, and many new wells are being commenced. The famous Pithole district has remained unchanged, the developments still being comparatively small. The Shaw and Tolls farms, and others in their immediate vicinity, between Oil Creek, Lower Cherry Run and the Allegheny river, are still attracting considerable attention. Cherry tree and Charley runs have been without any important change as regards developement, and on Cottage Hill, near Oil City, operations have been less active on account of some of the wells that were completed having only produced in small quantities.

THE STOCK.

The stock on April 1st was about 33,000 barrels in excess of that on March 1st, and the total amounted to 385,000 against 280,000 the same date last year, or an increase of about 100,000 barrels. The above stock embraced, as usual, the amounts at the wells, and in wooden storage tanks, in the hands of pipe companies, and refiners, and that in iron tankage. The stock in the hands of refiners and pipe companies amounted to 14,900 barrels and was located as follows: At Titusville 4,800 barrels; at Miller 2,000; at Pithole 1,600; on Upper Cherry run 3,000; at Rynd farm 2,000, and at Oil City 1,500.

SHIPMENTS.

The total shipments of crude equivalent of barrels of 45 gallons each, were 334,679. In this amount is included, reduced to its crude equivalent, a total shipment of 31,900 barrels of refined. The amount of refined oil shipped during March was larger than that in February. The shipments by the Allegheny river were about 35,000 bbls of 45 gallons each. There were heavy shipments by this route immediately after the first of April.

The shipments by all routes were as follows:

	Barrels.
New York	94,379
Cleveland	98,182
Boston	20,065
Philadelphia	17,283
Pittsburgh	80,811
Portland	1,664
Other points	22,312
Total barrels	334,679

The following table exhibits the shipments of crude equivalent from January 1st to April 1st, 1870:

	BBLS.

To Boston	52,684

WEST VIRGINIA NEWS.

The Morgantown Post says: The fifty-one United States soldiers now stationed at Charleston are commanded by a Colonel, two Captains and a Lieutenant, besides the non-commissioned officers. Let Us Have a Revision of the Constitution.

The Philadelphia Telegraph states the reasons as follows: "The true object of such governments is to secure the life, liberty and happiness of the people governed. So says the Declaration of Independence. The true object of the anomalous sort of government that is typified by the Legislature of Pennsylvania, however, is to harass, plunder, oppress, deceive, vex, betray and impoverish the Commonwealth. The proceedings of the body which has fortunately just adjourned are essentially more like the decrees of a gang of robbers, or the harsh edicts of a body of hostile conquerors intent on parcelling out the Commonwealth to their favorites and followers, than the laws of wise and benevolent legislaters."

AN English Parliamentary paper shows that the cost of all the dependencies and colonies of the British empire at the expense of the Exchequer in 1859 was £2,920,800. The maintenance of Gibraltar cost last year £430,000, and that of Malta £414,000 "large sums, but amply repaid by the security these strongholds give to British commerce to the Levant and the East Indies. Canada cost £939,546, a sum which will be considerably reduced this year. The charge for Western Australia was £79,802; for South Australia, £1,975; Queensland but £300; New South Wales, £2,763; Tasmania, £35,538, and New Zealand £173,255.

DROWNING CASE.

Body of an Unknown Man Found in the River.

Yesterday, at noon, some one on the towboat "Three Lights," lying in the Allegheny river, at the foot of Seventh street, saw the body of a man floating down the river. They caught the body and brought it ashore, and then notified the Coroner. An inquest was held but no evidence was elicited which would lead to the identification of the deceased. The body had evidently been in the water several weeks, and was considerably decomposed. The deceased is supposed to have been about thirty-five years of age. He wore a dark colored overcoat, dark pants and striped shirt. His clothes were in a good condition. Three or four of the upper front teeth are out, but nothing was discovered tending to show the man's name or residence. The body was removed to Devore's coffin rooms, where it will remain until this afternoon.

AFRICAN M. E. CONFERENCE.

Second Day's Proceedings.

The Pittsburgh Conference of the African M. E. Church reassembled in the Wylie Street Church yesterday morning at nine o'clock, Bishop J. M. Brown in the chair.

Rev. W. H. Hunter spoke in favor of censuring absent members, unless they had good excuse for being absent.

Bishop Brown made an appropriate address on the death of Bishop Kingsley, referring in feeling language to his talents and usefulness as a minister, and the great loss the church sustained in his death.

Rev. D. S. Asbury announced the death of Elder Lewis Gross, a member of the Conference. A committee was appointed to prepare a funeral service.

The question was then resumed—"Who are elected and ordained Deacons this year?" Bros. Asbury, Hasley, Phillips and Hainsley were announced duly elected and prepared for ordination. Chas. Jones, of Wylie Street Church, was recommended for local deacon's orders. W. C. West was elected to deacon's orders in the itinerant service. Rev. A. J. Haswell was introduced by the Bishop to the Conference. The Disciplinary questions were then discussed. What are the contingent expenses? Reports from Churches.

Rev. W. H. Hunter protested against the injustice of receiving a salary of only seven hundred dollars, while his Church had an income of between four and five thousand dollars.

Rev. Mr. Stanford, General Book Steward of the A. M. E. Church was requested to sit as a corresponding member.

Reports of churches at Meadville and Uniontown were made, appointments announced and conference adjourned.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Conference met at half past one o'clock Bishop J. M. Brown in the chair.

Reports of churches were continued. Reports were received from Allen's Chapel, Monongahela Circuit, Uniontown, Lewistown, Brownsville, Bellefonte, Wheeling, Bridgewater and Morgantown.

Disciplinary question: "Who are the deacons?" Rev's. Adams and Lee.

Bishop Brown said in the matter of church interest the church was behind others, but there was only needed proper exertion on the part of the ministers to make a power productive of inestimable benefits to the colored people.

Conference adjourned with benediction by Rev. A. L. R. O. Stanford.

ALLEGED BODY-SNATCHING.

Startling Discovery—A Physician Exposes the Body of a Woman in a Dissecting Room—Popular Indignation and Excitement.

Yesterday morning, about half-past six o'clock, quite an excitement was occasioned in the quiet borough of Braddock, by the discovery of a body of a human being lying in an open doorway, in one of the principal thoroughfares. The circumstances are thus described: A boy, while passing along the street, observed that the door of a building formerly used as a butcher shop was standing ajar, and looking in he was horrified to see a dead body lying exposed just inside the door. He ran over to some gentlemen who were standing on the opposite side of the street, and related what he had seen. Inquiries were at once started as to who occupied the shop, and when it was found that the building was not in use, the boy concluded that some person had been murdered and placed there. The gentlemen, becoming naturally curious and excited, went over and found the body of an aged woman lying there. In a few minutes the excitement became general, and quite a crowd of citizens collected. 'Squire Russell was summoned to the spot, and by general desire was requested to take charge of the body. An inspection of the premises revealed the shroud, and there seemed no doubt the body had been taken from its resting place in the grave. A box of dissecting instruments, found in the room, confirmed this suspicion, and led to the conclusion that this was a case of body-snatching.

While the excitement was at its height, a son of a well known physician of the neighborhood made his appearance, and in a nervous and excited manner pushed back the table upon which the body lay, claimed full proprietorship of the premises, and ordered the citizens away. The people of the borough have no objection to the physicians increasing their surgical knowledge in any legitimate way, but they have a decided repugnance to such ghastly exhibitions on the public thoroughfares. The law imposes a severe penalty upon any one who may clandestinely remove the remains of a deceased person, or open or mutilate any grave. If this body has been stolen from any graveyard, this violation of sepulchre should be exposed and punished. The law makes provision for furnishing medical men, who may desire to advance the science of medicine, with the bodies of such persons as may be unknown, or have no friends to give them burial; but forbids, under severe penalties, the disturbance of the remains of any one who may have been properly buried.

DR. CLARK AND THE COMMERCIAL.

A Misrepresentation Corrected.

The Leader of Sunday last gave what purported to be a literal report of an interview with Rev. J. B. Clark relative to the breach of promise case, in which his name has been so freely used of late. From this report we take the following extract:

"Rep.—Do you understand how the affair got newspaper publicity?

Rev. Clark—Yes, rightly. I wrote a note to the editor of the newspaper that first published it, and ascertained that their informant was no other than the lady and her relatives."

As "the affair first got newspaper publicity" through the COMMERCIAL and as Dr. Clark and our reporter had a very frank conversation on the subject, after the publication, the question and the answer above reported have direct reference to this circumstance. The Leader, however, is wholly in error in putting any such reply into the mouth of Dr. Clark. The Doctor was informed explicitly that the information did not come from the lady, or from any one specially in her interest; and he has since assured us that this was his understanding and that the contrary statement is either a false inference or a misrepresentation of fact. There is, therefore, no misunderstanding whatever between Dr. Clark and our reporter on this subject; and we would not refer to it now, were it not necessary in order to relieve the lady and her relatives from unjust imputations as well as to put the doctor right before the public. We take it for granted that the paper which made the mis-statement will rectify it; but nearly a week must elapse before it can do so. We may state, emphatically, that neither the lady, nor any of her relatives, so far as known to us, desired any publicity of the matter. We may also add that it was most gratuitous and ungenerous to attribute the writing of the articles to one or two gentlemen whose names have been mentioned in connection with them. These persons, we know, would rather prevent than encourage such publications; and those who are in trouble, and are so sensitive over what has been made public, should be careful not to involve innocent persons. Newspapers are often censured for making exaggerated statements, but they do not exaggerate half as much as some busy bodies, who, when their suspicions are aroused, make the most reckless and unfounded assertions, and take the most unwarranted liberties with the names of persons entirely innocent.

Produce Market Report,

CORRECTED WEEKLY,
Expressly for Shippers and Dealers,
BY
SAML. DEVOL,
General Commission Merchant,
75 WATER STREET.

PITTSBURGH, TUESDAY, April 12, 1870.

Review of the Market.

Grain has been about the only article that has received special impetus through the events of the past week, and in general it can be reported as showing more activity, and with light supplies and considerable competition on the part of dealers in securing a portion to supply their trade, prices have ruled stiff. These remarks imply more forcibly to Corn, Oats and Rye. The only cause that can be assigned for the late advance is light stocks and receipts. Eggs are dull for the Lenten season beyond all expectations of dealers. The improved condition of the country roads has enabled producers to bring forward large quantities. The receipts of choice Butter have been on the increase for several days, and prices are a shade weaker. Dried Fruit continues to attract but little attention among jobbers. Changes as they have occurred, are noted below, quotations being wholesale store prices unless otherwise mentioned.

APPLES—The receipts are light; prices for choice are well maintained; lower grades are sought for at weak prices. Extra choice $3 75 to $4 00; choice, $3 25 to $3 50; fair, $2 75 to $3 00; common and inferior, $2 00 to $2 50. Apple Butter has been in better demand than for some time, though the principle inquiry is for a fine article, which finds sales at 60 to 65c; common, 40 to 45c. Low grades not wanted.

BUTTER—The receipts are more liberal, and prices are a shade weak, though extra choice table Butter finds sale at 38c; choice in kegs, 34 to 35c; good and sweet, 28 to 30c; common and summer packed not wanted above lard prices, and then few sales at any figure.

BEANS—The market remains very dull, and quotations are all the market will stand. The stock is heavy and contains a large portion of unavailable quantities. Such Beans should be hand picked at home before sending to market, as the buyer neglects inferior grades while the supply is so large. Light sales of choice Navy, at $1 85 to $2 00; prime, $1 50 to $1 75; common and inferior, 75c to $1 00.

BACON, LARD, &c.—The demand has been quite active since last review, the stock being considerably reduced and prices are here firmer, with sales of Mess Pork, at $28 00; S. C. Hams, 17½ to 17¾c; Plain Hams, 16 to 16½c; Plain Shoulders, 12½c; S. C. Shoulders, 13 to 13½c; S. C. Breakfast Bacon, 17½c; Clear Sides, 17c; Clear Ribbed, 16 to 16½c; Ribbed, 15 to 15½c; S. C. Dried Beef, 19 to 19½c; Leaf Lard in tierces, 15½c; in buckets and jars, 17c; country in kegs, 13½ to 14c; City rendered Tallow, 9c; country, 8½c.

CHEESE—The market is less active, though prices have undergone no material change. N. Y. Goshen, 18 to 18½c; Ohio Goshen, 17 to 17½c; Ohio Factory, 16½ to 17c; Western Reserve, 16 to 16½c.

CORN MEAL—Is in moderate supply and demand. There is very little kiln-dried on the market, and it is held firmer at 98c to $1 00; common 90 to 95c.

CIDER—There has been more inquiry for choice Sweet Cider and prices are held firmer. Sales at $8 00 to $9 00 for extra-sweet; common and poor grades are immovable.

EGGS—The market closed last week extremely dull, and no improvement can be noted in the opening this week. The receipts are very large, and they are freely offered at 21 to 22c.

FLOUR—The market for Breadstuffs is without any material change. There has been a light demand, and moderate fair supply—principally the inquiry has been for fine descriptions. Sales of all winter wheat, $5 50 to $5 75; choice Spring wheat, $5 25 to $5 50; fancy brands of choice white winter wheat, $6 50 to $6 75. Rye Flour is held at $5 00. Light inquiry for Buckwheat Flour; small stock in market—sales at $3 00 ℔ cwt.

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is still confined exclusively to the wants of the retail dealers. Speculative feeling has ceased to exist, and jobbers only purchase round lots when liberal inducements are extended. It takes the very choicest Dried Apples to command the outside quotations. Choice Bright Dried Apples, 7c; prime, 6½c; common, 6c; choice Dried Peaches, halves, 9 to 9½c; prime, 8½ to 9c; quarters, 7½ to 8c. Pitted Cherries, 28c; Dried Blackberries, 13 to 14c.

GRAIN—The market for most kinds of grain since last report has been steady, with a good demand and moderate fair supply. Prices have ruled firmer. Wheat has not been so active, the inquiry being chiefly for white winter which is held at $1 28; red $1 10 to $1 12. Corn continues firm and considerable quantities have exchanged hands at 80c for ear on wharf and depot, and 84c to 85c for prime yellow shelled. Oats are taken from first hands at 50c to 51c; from store 52 to 54c. Rye is quite active at 90 to 95c, the ruling figures. Barley remains firm, with a light stock; the demand is only fair; fall is held at 95c; spring 85 to 90c.

HAY—The market continues in about the condition as previously reported. Buyers are holding aloof, believing they can do better to await a more copious supply. Prime Timothy is held at $18; good $17.

HOMINY—There being none in market quotations are omitted.

ONIONS—The receipts for several days have been on the increase. Extra choice are held at $2 75 to $3 00; prime, $2 50 to $2 75; common, at $2 25 to $2 50.

POULTRY—The season for dressed Poultry being about over, we omit quotations. All arrivals in good order are taken at last week's prices. Live chickens are in active demand, at full prices; sales at 95c to $1 00 ℔ pair by the coop.

TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1870.

WE observe that the opponents of the Tariff bill now under discussion, virtually concede that when it shall have been gone through will pass the House of Representatives. One infuriated correspondent says "that unless public sentiment makes itself immediately and strongly felt, there will be no such thing as a relief from taxation or a reform in the tariff. The House seems to be almost completely in the possession of special interests, and they 'log-roll' each other's schemes through with ease and facility." In other words, the prospect of the foreign manufacturers obtaining "relief" is decidedly dubious. This is good news, and we hope it will continue to the end.

THE underwriters ask twenty guineas premium on the City of Brussels. When we read the announcement of that steamer staggering out to sea, unsound and crippled, we felt pity for the commander. Let us avoid a false standard. There was no heroism in the act. A bold man, reckless in the risk of human life, of foolish pride, daring without recompense, and almost challenging the winds and waves in his battered vessel, was all we saw. Two days would have brought him to a safe haven; two days would have relieved over charged hearts and brought forgetfulness to many now sleepless pillows. We can only hope he has not gone down, never more to be heard of. All we know is, that speculation has already assumed ominous shape, and guesses made that his sails will save him. There was bravery in his heart, but no heroism in his act.

DURING our late war, there was no nation so terribly shocked over any restrictions that may have been put on the press as England. To have taken the expressions as disinterested would have been to consign ourselves to historical infamy. But England has now some trouble on hand that materially alters her opinion. By Mr. GLADSTONE'S bill, the Lord Lieutenant of Ireland may stop the printing of any paper, may seize its type and presses, and shut up the office. Not an English paper can be found to inveigh against this bill save one. On the contrary, a general glow of satisfaction seems to pervade everywhere over the suppression of the "pestilent, seditious Irish press." It would seem there is in the minds of Englishmen a great distinction to be drawn between England laying down rules to govern the United States when involved in civil war, and rules to govern England when embroiled with Irish rebellion.

ON the 9th instant, the American Anti-Slavery Society held its last meeting. Its first meeting was held thirty-seven years ago in Philadelphia, and of all who then assembled not one was present at the final gathering in New York. By the enactment of the Fifteenth Amendment the work of the Society has been completed and nothing more remains for it to do. People not very old can distinctly recollect with what abhorrence even good people looked upon the little band of zealous men and women the avowed object of whose organization was to remove slavery from the United States. The people of Pennsylvania had no love for slavery. If they knew anything about it either by personal observation or by report, they hated it. But it did not seem to be their sin, or burden; to charge them with responsibility in its existence seemed absurd and did not touch their consciences; while they did feel responsible for the maintenance of the union of the States which they had been brought up to regard with veneration as a sacred thing, and to cherish as the source of their liberties and happiness. Then, it cannot be fairly denied that the champions of freedom habitually used language about slavery which, even now in the light of all the past, would indicate a one sided and extravagant view of the ethical relations of the subject. Not that it is possible to represent slavery as too evil; but they in their enthusiastic devotion to a single idea, described the object of their hatred as worse than they or any body else knew it to be, until the day when the United States flag was fired upon at Fort Sumter. Though those early anti-slavery people did not exert or originate the influence which ultimately abolished the gigantic evil, they undoubtedly performed an important service by their agitation of the subject, in spite of their mischievous fanaticism. For all the contempt and persecutions they endured, they probably found abundant consolation and reward in the approval of their own hearts, or in the gratification derived from the conflict, and we may not feel called upon to cultivate thankfulness for their labors. Though possibly glad that there were such zealots in those days, the thoughtful reviewer of the past thirty-seven years can hardly fail to believe that if the moral and political opinions held and taught by those philanthropists had been adopted by a considerable number of the people of the North, if their counsels had been followed and thus become deeds, the great American Republic would have ceased to exist a decade or two ago, and there would to-day be a dozen or more independent Commonwealths in its stead, mutually jealous and often at war with one another. These fragmentary republics would probably all lie to the north of MASON and DIXON'S line and the Ohio river, while the vast region on the southern side of these lines and stretching from the Atlantic to the Rocky Mountains would be occupied by a mighty oligarchy resting on the foundation of slavery.

MR. WYNWOODE REED, so well known in connection with African geography and natural history, is at present engaged in a journey of exploration in Africa. He arrived at Monrovia, in Liberia, on the 11th of January, and has since been heard from at Bopora. This is described as "one of the centers of the Mandingo trade and of the Arabic literature of interior Africa." For us this tour of exploration possesses rather more than ordinary interest on account of its relation to Liberia. Mr. REED is an English gentleman of fortune who has devoted a great deal of time and attention to the study of Africa. When DU CHAILLU'S first book was published in London, and the Frenchman's veracity had been vouched for by Sir RODERICK MURCHISON and other distinguished men of science. Mr. REED who was incredulous as to many of the statemenes of the book, became involved in a controversy on the subject. At length to satisfy himself and to convict DU CHAILLU of error, he went to the scene of his alleged discoveries, and for a considerable time followed up his tracks. His report was in part favorable and in part unfavorable to the Frenchman's veracity. While engaged in this way, Mr. REED became familiar with the people and institutions of Liberia. In his book entitled "Savage Africa," published some years ago, the view presented of the African intellect was not flattering. We are now informed that "Mr. REED'S ideas concerning the mental capacity of the negro intellect have undergone considerable change, and that he is now inclined to give him a much higher place in the scale of humanity than he assigns him in that book." "The Liberians," he says, "are the most highly cultivated people he has met on the West coast of Africa." Another interesting circumstance connected with this expedition to Central Africa, is the fact that one of Mr. REED'S companions is Prof. BLYDEN, a gentleman of unmixed African descent, who emigrated from this country to Liberia in 1851. He was educated in the Alexander High School there, of which, after a while, he became Principal. Already familiar with many languages, in 1866, he went to the Syrian Protestant College, on Mount Lebanon, where he studied Arabic, and thus acquired a qualification that completed his preparation for exploring the vast regions lying to the east of Liberia. In this work he is now occupied with Mr. REED. We are told that "numerous chiefs, headmen and Mohammedan priests have traveled hundreds of miles to visit Liberia and converse with Mr. BLYDEN. As he has visited Jerusalem, the 'Holy City,' he is regarded with great favor by the Mohammedans." Having spent one half of the thirty-eight years of his life in the West African republic, Mr. BLYDEN'S opinion of the country ought to carry some weight. Of Liberia he speaks as "an area of negro freedom, and a scene for untrammelled growth and development," with "a wide and ever expanding field for benevolent effort," and with "an outlying or surrounding wilderness to be reclaimed, and the barbarisms of ages to be brought over to Christian life." The history, present condition and future prospects of Liberia form a subject of extraordinary interest to all who view it without prejudice. With every year and increasing knowledge distrust and misgivings must more and more vanish, and the gift of prophecy is not needed to foresee the time when commercial and industrial as well as philanthropic considerations must render that African commonwealth an object in regard to which no man of intelligence can afford to be indifferent.

IN many of our cities it is too prevalent a practice for combinations to be formed between the medical practitioner and some special druggist. So long as this is confined to a selection based entirely on the merits of the druggist and his drugs it is commendable. When, however, it arises, as it does in many instances, from a commission paid by the druggist on all prescriptions sent by the physician, it is impossible to foretell the evils that may follow. A Coroner's inquest in the city of New York returns a verdict that JAMES O'NEILL died from heavy doses of morphine prescribed by Dr. BRONSON, and that BRONSON was in collusion with HENRY S. MARTIN, a druggist, in writing prescriptions contrary to the usual form. This means, as the evidence proves, that for some reason BRONSON desired all his prescriptions to go to the store of MARTIN, and in order that they should do so, wrote them in words no other druggist could understand, and even other physicians could not read. The consequence is readily foreseen. O'NEILL was discovered to be in danger, from an overdose of some narcotic; BRONSON being absent another physician was called in, and an examination of the prescription rendered him no wiser than he was before. MARTIN'S clerk refused to translate the "blind," and by the time the information sought was obtained O'NEILL was dead. We do not seek to settle the dispute between the two physicians whether the doses were or were not too large. But we desire to point out the fact, that there is already mystery enough around the invalid, to insure him the full protection of the law, and the severest punishment of an offender who goes one step backward and places the sufferer in a condition that even a brother physician may fail to comprehend. The community extends to the medical practitioner more confidence than to any other class or profession. Daily, we take nostrums we know nothing about solely on the confidence we havs in our family physician. We sit quietly by while words that are meaningless to us are traced out, we pocket the recipe, we watch carelessly the druggist compound it, and we return home and administer it to some member of our family, perfectly ignorant of what we are giving. Who Dr. BRONSON is, or what his status as a physician may be, we know not; but we repeat that a punishment should be inflicted on both BRONSON and MARTIN of severity sufficient to alarm these per cent. dealers, and free the sick room from, at least, any more cabalism than now surrounds it.

AT the present time, indeed ever since the close of our civil war, American ideas have been invested with a fresh consecration in France, and are rapidly pervading and leavening the thoughts and prospects of the French masses. To close and interested observers of popular movements this influence is so obvious, and it is so unreservedly declared by the reformers themselves, that Americans commit no offense against modesty when they refer to the fact with some satisfaction.

By way of curb upon our pride in this matter, it may be well to take notice that America is beginning to be spoken of in France as not exclusively the source of good influences. Evil practices have been introduced and are justified on the authority of our example At least among a certain class of Frenchmen the habit of going constantly armed with pistols is growing very common, and the fashion is spoken of as an American institution. On this subject some interesting revelations were made during the trial of Prince PIERRE BONAPARTE. In response to a question of the President of the Court, M. FONVILLE said: "It is my habit to always carry a pistol; I adopted it in America." Alluding to this statement, the President presently said: "America, of which you speak, has given us excellent things, but there are some fashions there which it would be well to leave to her." Another witness, M. MILLIERE, managing director of the Marseillaise newspaper, in the course of his testimony, said: "I had in my pocket my revolver, the sort called coup de poing, which I carry habitually since the 24th of June last for my personal defense." The witness afterwards informed the court that the pistol was a birth-day present from his wife to protect him against dangers too rife at this time, and that he considered it a merely defensive weapon.

The Prince on trial did not allow this remark to pass without comment. He began, "Defensive weapons are helmets, breast plates"—but was interrupted by one of the lawyers who said—"Yes, those were arms of the middle ages of which you are one of the heroes."

But these statements made at the famous trial are not the only evidence that the practice of carrying fire arms is becoming common in France. The fact is proved by the police reports. So many instances of their illegal use have lately occurred that a journalist says: "The revolver is entering into our manners and into our paletots, and we are fast getting to be downright Americans."

THERE can be no question that on the intelligence and virtue of the people depends the stability of our national existence. Mr. Hoar, of Massachusetts, recognizes this truth in the introduction of a bill in our National House of Representatives for the establishment of a system of National education, in one section of which it is made the duty of teachers to impress upon the minds of children and youth "the principles of piety and justice, and a sacred regard for truth, love of country, of liberty, humanity and universal benevolence, sobriety, industry, and frugality, chastity, moderation and temperance, and those other virtues which are the ornaments of human society and the basis upon which a republican constitution is founded." With such cardinal virtues instilled into our children, we could not fail to become a model nation.

THOSE who are seeking to perpetuate the imposition of the Income Tax upon the people of the United States have a difficult task to accomplish. Besides the almost entire press of the country in its denunciation, and against the solemn protestations of the people, there are grave objections in a legal point of view. It is well known that quite a number of the large corporations are resisting the payment of income tax on their dividends, which they hold are not due after 1839. This must necessarily greatly embarrass the Internal Revenue Department, and necessitate the renewed action of the Senate and cause interminable debate in both Houses.

THE trial of the Rev. Horace Cook, whose recent elopement with Miss Johnson at New York was the cause of wide-spread scandal, will take place during the present session of the Methodist Episcopal Conference in that city. It is said, however, that Mr. Cook will not put the Conference to the trouble of appointing a committee of investigation, but will frankly acknowledge his crime and throw himself upon the mercy of his judges; the result of which will probably be his suspension from ministerial functions. Many of the members of the Conference charitably believe in his insanity at the time.

THE desire to get rid of mere party politicians who, for years past, have filled the public offices to the exclusion of honest men, appears to be spreading in every direction. The latest development is in Hudson county, New Jersey, where the people, tired of being made to suffer, have rallied and formed a Citizens' Association, for the selection of honest municipal officers, and have put a ticket, composed of men of all parties, who are opposed to the extravagant appropriation of public moneys, to wild speculative schemes to which they were not intended to be applied.

THE German Democrats of New York are not satisfied with the new city charter. Their chief objection to it, as expressed by the Staats Zeitung, their organ, is that while it abolishes the Republican Commissions, it transfers their powers to a political clique, and does not restore them to the people of the city, who are as helpless under the new charter as they were under the system it supplants. They, however, stand in a position of dissatisfied acquiescence looking to future legislation for a remedy.

IN Springfield, Illinois, the Democrats made a great effort to obtain the negro vote. They succeeded in getting one, while 299 voted the Republican ticket. The one was taken up bodily and carried by his new-found friends to the nearest drinking place; but, to his credit be it said, he broke from them and promised to reform!

THE Washington Chronicle says that "Mr. Garrett is building a railway from Pittsburgh to Chicago." This is a pleasant piece of information and decidedly new. Will the Chronicle state what is the route, and when the road will be completed?

THE appropriation to the Experimental Farm, in Chester county, was this year reduced from $5,000 to $3,000. Unless there is an improvement in the management the amount is $3,000 too much.

MINORITY REPRESENTATION.

Shall Minorities Have a Voice in Elections and Legislatures.

The Hon. David Dudley Field recently lectured before the Lowell Institute in Boston, on a subject, which altogether not new, is nevertheless commanding awakened attention, and will probably become a subject of more general discussion hereafter. It is a reform in our system of representation which would give to the whole people, including minorities, a voice in our legislatures. Mr. Field pointed out the defects in the present system, by which minorities are systematically deprived of all representation, and by which, in certain cases, actual majorities of the people are made minorities in power. He then explained the evils resulting from this system by which bad men are chosen and good men crippled in the legislatures by it. These evils, he says, do not spring from a corrupt community, for the majority of the people are not debauched, but the fault lies in a vicious electoral system which produces a representation neither of parties nor of the general public. He then explained the various schemes which have been proposed, going as far back as the year 1780 when the Duke of Richmond introduced a bill of parliamentary reform, which embraced a clause looking towards a representation of minorities, and after alluding to plans proposed by Mr. Andive in Denmark, in 1855, and by the late Mr. Hill in England, speaks definitely of the system broached by Mr. Hare, who in 1859, published his great work on the election of representatives, parliamentary and municipal. Since then the subject has given rise to many discussions in this country and in England, France, Germany, Belgium, Sweden and Australia. This Mr. Field denominates preferential voting. It ascertains the quota by dividing the whole number of voters by the whole number of representatives. Thus, if the whole number of voters should be 800,000, and the number of representatives to be chosen 200, the quota of voters to each representative would be 4,000. Then the voter is to deposit at the polls a voting paper, on which he shall have placed in the order of his preference the names of the candidates, or of so many of them as he pleases. No vote is to be counted for more than one candidate; any candidate receiving 4,000 votes is to be declared elected; if the candidate first on a voting paper fails to obtain the quota, or has already abtained it, the vote descends to the next in order of preference. A second plan is called cumulative voting, the theory of which is that a quota being ascertained, each voter shall have as many votes as there are representatives to be elected, either from the whole State or from electoral districts, and shall be at liberty to cast them all for one candidate or divide them among several as he pleases. This is the plan proposed by Mr. Buckalew, of this State, in Congress, and in the Illinois State Convention by Mr. Joseph Medill and others.

MR. A. R. WALLACE, the explorer of the Malay Archipelago, has been studying "Geological Time," in articles contributed to Nature. He attempts to bring together the facts which Sir W. Thompson has gathered from astronomy, tending to show that a habitable condition of the earth cannot have lasted more than about one hundred millions of years, and the geological reasonings of Sir Charles Lyell upon the great effect on climate of the distribution of land and water. The most promising date which he seems likely to approach is that of the last glacial epoch in the north temperate zone; but even for this the basis of reasoning seems as yet to be indefinite. Sir Charles Lyell assumed the time since the glacial epoch began at one million years. Mr. Wallace thinks one-tenth of this period enough, and so estimates the various rock deposits to have been made as follows:

Lower Miocene	2,000,000 years ago.
Eocene	6,000,000 "
Cretaceous	10,000,000 "
Triassic	14,000,000 "
Permian	16,000,000 "
Carboniferous	18,000,000 "
Devonian	20,000,000 "
Silurian	22,000,000 "
Cambrian	24,000,000 "

Leaving out of Sir W. Thompson's 100,000,000 of years of organic life on the earth, 76,000,000 previous to the Cambrian rocks.

JACK REYNOLDS, the murderer of Townsend, has paid the penalty. When the crime was committed Jack boldly challenged the ministers of the law and declared "hanging was played out in New York." The evidence against him was conclusive and he suffered only after every legal effort was made to gain an acquittal and every opportunity afforded him to prove his innocence. But Reynolds' expression followed him through the whole course of his trial like a fate. His remark was printed and read all over the whole Union. Thousands of human beings who did not know him, had never heard of him, and had no interest in his life or death, awaited the result of his prophecy. It was a direct reflection on the courts, and though the Judges might try ever so hard, they must, as they looked down on the poor wretch, have remembered, that he had thrown down the challenge, and they had accepted it. Had he been acquitted it would have been a premium offered for murder. But Jack has paid the penalty, and his prophecy may only be remembered as of one who murdered and was hanged.

THE debate in the United States Senate on the question of continuing the income tax was interesting. Mr. Sumner made a ten minutes' speech in which he introduced the popular cry of "down with the taxes," avowing himself strongly in favor of that proposition and policy. Mr. Conkling shared his sentiments, and expressed his own ideas very vigorously. But Mr. Casserly made the statement that Mr. Sherman placed his opinion that the tax was "equal and just," against the testimony and opinions of every modern writer and statesman on the subject, who all maintained that while it was just enough in theory, in practice it was odious, unjust and unequal.

THE spirit of "Southern Chivalry" now and then "crops out" in some of the southern prints, but in view of the present condition of affairs, it may be regarded as a harmless anachronism. The Mobile Tribune under the head of "The Southron's Rock of Truth" sends this shot at whom it may concern: "He who entices, or attempts to entice, the people of the conquered South to assume any responsibility for, or to meddle with, the corrupt and despotic government of her Nothern conquerors, does, through ignorance or with traitorous intent, and to the full measure of attained success, undermine Southern unity, degrade Southern manhood, vitiate Southern sentiment, mongrelize and debase Southern character, condemn the Confederate record, and convert proud Southrons into unprincipled mercenaries seeking service under Tammany or Faneuil Hall leaders, as hopes of spoil may decide them."

REFERRING to the Richardson-McFarland trial, progressing in New York, the Springfield Mass., Republican says: While this general blackening of character is to go on as an excuse for murder, we trust that the person who knows most of the painful history that led up to the painful tragedy, but who has kept silent, while the pure saints who conduct the pot house and back-kitchen press of New York have adopted every vulgar scandal they could hear and invent, and every sceptic in woman's virtue and man's honor has rushed to indecent conclusions against her and her friends—we trust that she, Mrs. Richardson, the person now most interested in the truth, and the most capable and the most willing to tell it, shall have the opportunity to give her story. It is due to herself, to her friends, to the man who died for her, and to the cause of truth and justice, that it should now be given.

AT a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences, M. Feil exhibited specimens of flint glass of great density (Faraday's glass), obtained by a new process, enabling masses of this material to be manufactured, weighing from 25 to 35 kilos, perfectly pure, homogeneous and free from striæ, and of density equal to, and even greater than that of Faraday's. He also showed specimens of imitation precious stones, such as emeralds, sapphires and white and colored rubies, as well as a specimen of a deep violet blue, rich in tone, and of a brilliancy surpassing that of the finest amethysts. They are stated to be nearly equal in hardness also. The author, in his communication, states that he uses for the flint glass aluminates of lime, of lime and baryta, of lead, and of bismuth, etc., and for crown glass, aluminates of magnesia, silicates of magnesia, and of alumina.

EVEN in England, where the people have been used to oppressive legislation from time immemorial, a stong agitation has set in against the income tax. It has crystalized into an "Anti-Income Tax Association," an able committee from which body waited upon the Chancellor of the Exchequer on the 25th ult., and represented the injustice and the inquisitorial nature of the assessment, and asked for its repeal or marked modification. Mr. Lowe defended the tax, as was expected, and the committee withdrew to fire up with fresh enthusiasm and determination to carry their point with the House of Commons. The question will probably enter into the next elections, and the income tax, being detested by Englishmen, may soon be among the evils that were.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Telegraph says that a clergyman mistook the portrait of Fechter in Hamlet for a representation of some scene in the life of Christ, and he adds that Mr. Fechter has received from several New York artists offers to sit for a portrait of Christ wearing the crown of thorns, and will probably accept one of these offers upon his return to the city.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

In his address before the Grand Army of the Republic to honor the memory of Gen. Thomas, Gen. Logan made the following appropriate quotation:

"Bethink ye of the day
When to the field the hero led the way;
In all the pride of manhood's noblest prime,
Untamed by sorrow, and untired by time
Glad, active, vigorous—who is now at rest!
How he gazed around him with his eagle eye,
Leapt the dark rocks that frowned against the sky
Grasped the bright sword and curbed the panting steed,
(Whose nerves all quivered with his heedless speed.)
At the wild cry of danger smiled in scorn,
And rushed to battle at the break of the morn.
But alas!
"Low lies the hero now, whose spoken name
Could fire with glory, with courage inflame;
Low lies the arm of might, the form of pride,
While comrades sad are weeping by his side."

The following cute paragraph is by the Philadelphia Press: "It is clear that Johnson couldn't cut another circle inside our territorial limits; hence the necessity for enlarging his field of action."

The devil-fish of Victor Hugo's fiction has its counterpart. A crab caught in Yokohama Bay weighed about forty pounds, had legs over five feet in length, and its mouth contained two large teeth. When in the water its strength was such that it could have quite overpowered a man. This horrible ghoul, as if attracted by that appalling calamity, was found clinging to the masthead of the recently sunken steamer Oneida. A taxidermist in San Francisco is preparing the dead monster for exhibition.

A New York paper says: It is satisfactory to hear that the Elevated Railway for city passenger transit from Battery place, on the west side of town in the direction of Yonkers, to which point the present concession extends, is proving a decided success. The cars are now running from Battery place to Thirty-first street, and experimental or excursion trips have been frequent in the last few days at the speed of sixteen or seventeen minutes each way. The chief drawback is that for the present there is only one track.

The Committee in one branch of the Massachusetts Legislature on Woman Suffrage has reported a resolve providing for an amendment of the Constitution by striking out the word "male," so that women shall hereafter vote and hold office on the same terms and conditions as men, and on no others. The committee expresses the opinion that it will be wise for the people to vote on the question, as the best way to allay agitation on the subject.

Mr. Prosser, member of Congress from the Fifth District of Tennessee, says he will be the first to succeed in getting a colored boy into the West Point Military Academy. He has appointed as a cadet to that Institution Alonzo Napier, colored, of his district, who, Mr. Prosser says, is thoroughly qualified and will pass an examination.

A Baltimore correspondent writes: Thunder sours milk and kills oysters. You may load a vessel to its utmost capacity; start for market, and one good round clap of thunder will kill every oyster in the vessel, immediately. Pounding with an ax upon the deck of a vessel when oysters are thereon, or pounding upon the side of a vessel with a heavy weight, will kill every oyster that feels the jar.

The New York Shipping List gives a comparison of the wholesale prices of 121 articles on the 8th of September, 1869, and March 12, 1870, and in only 21 out of the 121 has there been an increase of price. The decrease has been from 12 to 16 per cent. The London Economist, in publishing the articles, says: "We can see, therefore, why gold is not exported from New York, though its value has fallen so much, for the value of other articles fitted for export to Europe has fallen as much or more."

FINANCE AND TRADE.

MONDAY EVENING, April 11, 1870.

The tardiness evinced by Congress on the Tariff and Funding bills, keeps up a very uneasy feeling in financial and commercial circles. Betwixt rumors of defeat and success the price of gold and governments has vacillated, and it is now fully three months that legislation on these matters has been pending, disturbing alternately with fear and hope the mercantile life. It is complained that too much time has already been spent, that discussions go on in Congress and its committees as leisurely as if there were nothing to be lost by delay. The same leisure is shown in acting upon the Tariff bill. The last number of the New York Financial Chronicle refers to an instance early last winter when it was announced on apparently good authority that there would be a reduction of duties on tea, coffee and sugar. The whole of the trade in these articles at once began to prepare for the change. Old stocks were sold off for consumption, and were not replaced. Retail dealers and refiners supplied themselves only with what was necessary for immediate demands. Jobbers and importers left all goods in bond, and withdrew only as they sold the goods. In consequence of this the stocks of duty paid goods of these classes in the country are now extremely low. Should the reduction of duty take place immediately, the consequent fall in price would be little felt, for all are ready for it. But to be ready for it is to keep business dull. If the duty is reduced only to take effect after six months, this dulness will be prolonged through all that time. It will be impossible to bring about any revival of business. No one will send out foreign orders, to be filled before the change of duty, in the prospect of a fall in price, only the amount of which is uncertain. No dealer will purchase a large stock to hold for a decline, such as there will be in every kind of goods imported on which the duty is reduced. On the other hand, when the duty is raised upon any article the whole effect of the increase will be lost to the Treasury for a year or two to come by the postponement. For instance, should the duty on steel rails be raised to two cents a pound, to take effect in October, an immense importation of such rails will be made during the summer, in anticipation of the rise of price under the higher duty; and we shall have six months production of English steel works, running on double time, thrown upon our markets to forestall the advanced tariff.

—"Good Friday" being a legal holiday, we are requested to announce that the banks and banking houses, as well as the Pittsburgh Clearing House will be closed on next Friday. Notes and acceptances falling due on that day will have to be paid on Thursday.

—The same strong feeling which characterized the Government bond market on Saturday, was even more manifest at the opening prices. It is reported that there is heavy purchasing on the part of the large New York houses who deal principally in these securities. The agitation of the funding scheme and of specie resumption in Congress frightened many private holders, as well as financial corporations into selling their gold bearing bonds and re-investing the proceeds in currency, and now it is thought that a reverse feeling is dominant. To get back the gold bearing bonds as low as possible is the object.

Messrs. Ira B. McVay & Co., report the following quotations of Government bonds in New York to-day, as furnished them by Jay Cooke & Co., their correspondents:

—The gold market has been strong and late in the day the price advanced to 113⅞. In addition to speculative influences, which, at the present time, are decidedly in favor of a higher premium, the market is strengthened by the condition of foreign exchanges and the settled belief that the Funding bill will be practically defeated.

PRODUCE AND GENERAL MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
MONDAY EVENING, April 11, 1870.

BUSINESS—The market since our last has undergone no particular change. The prices we reported in our last issue were steadily maintained. There is evidently no prospect of a decline, at least for the present. On the other hand, holders are talking about a further advance. Taken as a whole, firmness was the prevailing feature of the market. Groceries—we can report a firm market. A large number of country merchants arrived yesterday, and were merely looking around, preparatory to making their purchases. To-day they will enter the market as purchasers, and no doubt after an examination of prices, they will decide to make liberal purchases. Bacon—we can report a firm market, with a steady increase in the demand for most descriptions of bacon. The tendency is evidently upward. We would advise purchasers not to wait too long—delays are dangerous. Flour—The market was steady with a good demand; the receipts were not large, still there was no deficiency in the supply. The mills and wholesale dealers are abundantly able to meet the current wants of the market. The receipts of wheat for some time have been light; the stock on the market is not large, and will soon need replenishing.

APPLES—The market was not an active one. The receipts since our last were 691 bbls; sales were made at a variety of prices, viz: common to fair $2 75@3 25 ⅌ bbl; choice lots to $4 00@4 50 ⅌ bbl.

APPLE BUTTER—Extra choice will command 60@70c in small packages; common in bbls is hard to sell at 55@60c, as per quality.

ASHES—The market was devoid of animation. Dealers generally were confining their purchases to lots merely to meet their current wants. Soda ash—Common 4c; refined 4½c; Pearls 9@9½c; potash 7¼@7½c ⅌ ℔.

BROOMS—Steady but not active; prices have undergone no change; sales No. 2 at $3 75 ⅌ dozen; No. 3 $4 50; No. 4 at $5 50. Sales of carpet brooms at $6 00@6 50 ⅌ doz. Dealers are well supplied.

BEANS—The market is well stocked with the various kinds. We note sales of Canada medium at $1 75@2 00; choice navy $2 00@2 10.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—The market is very dull with scarcely any inquiry; small sales at 2c ⅌ ℔.

BUTTER—The market was steady with a fair stock on hand. The receipts were 85 packages, not including the amount received by express. We are reported sales of strictly prime at 37@40c ⅌ ℔; good to prime at 30@35c; common lots dull at various prices.

ALLEGHENY LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL,
MONDAY, April 11, 1870.

CATTLE.

The following is the official report of the number of cattle received by the car load for this market, as taken from the books of S. B. McKown, Esq., cashier of the Fort Wayne and Cleveland roads. Our genial friends of the Central Stock Yards did not attend this market, their stock having been closed out last week:

Trauerman & Lobman	Chicago	2
M Verner	"	2
Marks & Bro	"	4
Ziegler & Rothchilds	"	2
P Hartman	"	3
Greenwalt & Kahn	"	2
Haas & Kraus	"	2
E Katz	"	2
Sol Shamburg		1
L. & J. Shamburg	"	1
L. Keefer		1
J & S Needy	Newark, O	4
Greenwald & K	Wooster, O	1
G. Hersby	Orrville, O	1
W. Wernst	Alliance, O	1
Total		27

The above does not include several cattle driven in from the country.

The receipts of cattle, as above shown, is a falling off from last week, and the prices ranged about a ¼c higher for good beef. As a general thing, the market was supplied with smooth, fat and heavy cattle. Although good prices were obtained, some of the drovers complained that the western markets were so high that even the present advanced rates do not cover their margins. The quality of cattle is said always to be very fine about Easter time, and this is true with this market. Only one load of or eighteen head of scalawags were among the offerings to-day, and the small butchers left in disgust not being successful in making their purchases.

IRON MARKETS.

PHILADELPHIA.

April 9.—The market for pig iron is in an unsettled state. The firmness noticed last week has given way, and the market relaxed into its former state of inactivity; in fact both Foundry and forge irons can to-day be purchased at lower figures than those current at the close of our last report. The rail mills generally are receiving a fair share of orders, but the English agents are doing the best on account of the low price of gold, by which they are laying down rails at $64 ⅌ ton, a price which our mills, at the present rates of wages, cannot compete with. The only noticeable feature has been the heavy sales of old rails, to be imported from England and the Continent, amounting in the past week to over 20,000 tons, principally to go West. Scrap iron has been in considerable request, with sales of quantities, to arrive here from Europe and Cuba, at $38@39.

Manufactured iron—Bar iron is dull at the late decline; small sales at $77 50.

Scotch pig—Is dull, owing to the arrival of some 2,000 tons during the week.

Blooms—Are dull.

Nails—Are steady at $4 25.

Anchors and Chains—Sell at 7c for the former, and 6c ⅌ ℔ for the latter.

NEW YORK.

The Iron Age says of American pig iron: There have been few sales of importance since last week, and our remarks then are mainly applicable now. There are a number of companies that have sold little or no iron, the contracts so far being mainly made by the three leading companies we have named. It is probable that all the companies are still in a position to book orders, although one or two are reported out of market. The price generally asked by the furnaces is $33. We quote No. 1 extra at $33@34, the latter figure for small lots; No. 2 extra $31@32. In forge irons we hear of nothing new. They are held at $30@31. There is not a great deal offering. Glendon is held at $31, which is above the market, but it looks as if this figure might be paid.

Scotch Pig Iron—There has been little doing since our last. Coltness and Gartsherrie have been advanced on the other side about 2s, but the other brands remain the same. Coltness is now held, to arrive, at $32 gold, and Gartsherrie at $31 75 gold. Of Coltness there is no stock here. There have been sales of 300 tons Eglinton at $32 to $33. It is now held at $33 from yard, there being none at dock. The amount of Scotch pig of all kinds is very small, say 1,500 tons, mostly Gartsherrie and Eglinton. There is a little Summerlee here, held at $34 50 to $35 00.

MONONGAHELA—Nine feet, and rising.

The marks last evening indicated nine feet and rising. Trade on the landing was active with liberal shipments to the lower ports. Among the departures for this day are the steamers Lake Superior, Arlington and Julia No. 2.

THE Kate Putnam came in from New Orleans with a good trip.

THE Sallie, Captain Calhoun, will load at St. Louis for the mountains.

THE towboat Whale left for Cincinnati with ten barges containing 100,000 bushels coal. The Eagle and several others will follow to-day and to-morrow.

HO, FOR THE MUSKINGUM.—The punctual packet Julia No. 2, Capt. S. R. Stull, takes her departure this day at 4 P. M. for Wheeling, Marietta and Zanesville. The first clerk is Mr. Theo. McCodden, a clever and attentive officer.

THE fine Wheeling packet Petrolia, Captain Harlan, takes her departure this day at 12 M. for Beaver, Wellsville, Steubenville and Wheeling. Our old friend Caldwell has charge of the office.

THE fine Northern Line packet Savanna, Captain Rodgers, is receiving for St. Louis and St. Paul, and will have dispatch. We were pleased to see our old friend, Capt. Whitaker, in the office. The selection was an excellent one.

THE splendid side-wheeler St. Marys, Captain Sweeney, is announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi. Persons going West will be well cared for on this boat. Mr. Morris Dorsey, who presides in the office, stands at the head of the profession.

THE new and magnificent steamer Lake Superior, Capt. Warden, takes her departure this day positively for St. Louis and St. Paul. This boat, as her name implies, is "superior" to any boat of her class afloat, and a credit to all concerned in getting her up.

THE splendid side wheel passenger packet Arlington, Capt. D. Moore, takes her departure this day at 12 M. for Wheeling, Marietta, Parkersburg and Cincinnati. For speed, accommodations and attentive officers this boat has no superiors. The first clerk is Capt. A. S. Shepherd; his assistant is Mr. A. B. Bunting—a pretty strong team, that.

CAPT. STUT NEAL has become disgusted with low pressure boats, the kind they build at Louisville, and has purchased the commanding interest of the steamer Magenta. We don't suppose the Captain will make any more speeches against high pressure boats. How about thirty-five pounds of steam? Just give us your opinion if you have one.

GOLD BONDS

OF THE

Central Railroad of Iowa,

AT 95, FREE FROM TAX.

This Railroad runs 234 miles north and south through the finest and most thickly settled portion of the magnificent State of Iowa; and is the only link wanting to connect the railway centers at St. Louis and St. Paul by an unbroken line, 147 miles shorter than any existing route. This Road offers many advantages. The building of the railroad north from St. Paul to Duluth, at the head of Lake Superior, where five railroads will soon center—the construction of the North Pacific Railroad, already begun—and the rapid development of a new and productive country in Minnesota and the Northwest, must furnish a large Southern traffic. As the Upper Mississippi is frozen over during the Winter, and its navigation is often uncertain during the Summer, from low water, this Road must have at all times a large amount of transportation, and a monopoly of the business at some seasons of the year. Its connections with other lines interested by mutual ownership or running arrangements, will give it almost the entire north and south travel between its terminal points and their vicinity.

This Road will have a great advantage over any other Western line in carrying the best quality of coal from where it is abundant in Southern Iowa to Northern Iowa and Minnesota, where none is to be found, and in securing return freights of lumber, for which the demand is very great.

The construction of the Road is not an experiment, dependent upon any uncertain negotiation of its bonds. It is in the hands of gentleman of wealth and ability, comprising many leading bankers and railroad builders of experience. Forty-six miles of the line are just completed, and eighty-eight miles more are graded. An abundant supply of iron, ties, and other materials has been contracted for. The Company have a large and daily increasing surplus of money on hand, and the stock subscriptions, and the sales of the bonds, give them ample means to push the work forward, so that, with favorable weather, it is expected that the whole line will be completed this season.

SECURITY OF THE INVESTMENT.

So far as we can learn, every completed railroad in the Northwest is not only earning the interest on its bonds, but a dividend on its stock, and we believe the CENTRAL OF IOWA must occupy an equally strong financial position.

The amount of Bonds to be issued is but $16,000 per mile, or less than four millions in all,

Of which over One Million have already been Sold.

AS WE CONSIDER THESE SECURITIES AMONG THE CHOICEST IN THE MARKET, we have no doubt that the remainder will be rapidly taken, so that it may be well for parties desiring to purchase to do so at once.

We believe there will be no more favorable time to sell Governments and buy really first-class Railroad Securities—such as these—than the present.

After a full examination, we have accepted an Agency for the Sale of the above First Mortgage Bonds, and desire to recommend them to our customers AS A THOROUGHLY SAFE, AS WELL AS PROFITABLE INVESTMENT. We have no hesitation in saying that, in our opinion, the CENTRAL RAILROAD OF IOWA will be one of the most important and valuable Roads in the West.

PERFECTION

IN

Broiling Meats

ATTAINED AT LAST!

PATENTED
JULY 21 '68 & OCT 19 '69

THE

American

BROILER,

The Most Welcome Kitchen Visitant of the Century.

The Little Genie that Lifts one of the Heaviest Burdens of the Household.

TURNS DRUDGERY INTO EASE,

VEXATION INTO PLEASURE,

INDIGESTION INTO HEALTH,

AND BRINGS LUXURY TO THE POOR AS WELL AS THE RICH!

The Crowning Achievement of Culinary Invention!

Embodying, in a plain and unpretending utensil—as simple as a pot or skillet, and weighing less than three pounds—all the principles involved in the perfect broiling of meats, with the greatest conveniences and advantages of practical use.

It will broil your steak, over an average fire, in

Seven to Eight Minutes,

And, over a very hot fire, within 5 minutes—other meats in proportion, and retains all the Juices and Flavor, which no other broiler does.

It totally revolutionizes this branch of culinary art, among its results being:

It is set on top of the stove or range, over one of the openings, where the largest amount of heat is obtained from the smallest quantity of fuel;

It concentrates and retains all the heat within its enclosure;

Prevents evaporation and loss of juices, and renders tough meats tender, by its action;

Runs the melted fat into the fire,

Doing away with all smoke and smell of grease;

Requires no preparation of fire—either a bed of coals or a blazing fire serving the purpose;

No pounding of steak;

Dispenses with necessity for either coke or charcoal;

Broils equally well over coal or wood,

And gives, from either, the flavor of a steak broiled over wood coals, with all the juices of a roast;

Answers for all sized stove or range openings,

And is equally good for

BEEFSTEAK, CHICKEN, CHOPS, HAM, FISH AND OYSTERS,

Forming the most complete and admirable combination of simplicity, convenience, cheapness and usefulness, ever attained in a cooking utensil.

It renders broiling, heretofore so vexatious, the quickest and easiest of all modes of cooking, and meats broiled by it more palatable, nutritious and digestible than by any other mode of cooking them.

It not only confers upon the rich a luxury heretofore unattainable with money, but its small cost places its benefits within the reach of the poorest—offering to the Laborer, the Mechanic and the Farmer, grateful relief and absolute emancipation FROM MEAT COOKING ABOMINATIONS OF ALL DEGREES—INCLUDING THAT CHIEF OF CULINARY ATROCITIES,

Fried Meat, Soaked in Burnt Grease.

We place an UNCONDITIONAL GUARANTY upon it, embracing each and every specification above named, and will refund for any returned after trial; and dealers are authorized to sell to their customers upon these terms, so all can test the article for themselves, and have their money refunded if they do not find it to be what we represent it.

PRICE, $2 00.

Liberal Discount to the Trade. For sale at Wholesale by

FLEMING, AGNEW & CO.,

NOS. 62 AND 64 THIRD AVENUE,

PITTSBURGH, PA.

NOTE—This Broiler will also toast bread with astonishing rapidity; can be used to advantage, when required, for baking potatoes, eggs and apples; and with an extra wire grate of fine mesh (instantaneously adjustable), is an unequalled corn popper, and will roast coffee more evenly, and with less attention, than by any other method. All the above operations are performed with much less fuel than is necessary to heat the oven.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

THE NEWELL PERJURY CASE.

At the opening of Court the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm. B. Newell, indicted for perjury, on oath of Wm. Hazlett, was resumed. The prosecutor alleged that he had been hired by the defendant to make some alterations and repairs on a building which he had leased in the Allegheny Diamond, and was fitting it up for a tavern stand; that he did carpenter work amounting to between two and three hundred dollars which Newell refused to pay; that he then filed a mechanic's lien, when Newell, in his affidavit of defense, swore that he had never hired Hazlett to do any work, except to build a counter. Upon this affidavit of defense the suit for perjury was based, Hazlett alleging that the oath was false and corrupt, and was made to hinder and delay the collecting of his bill. Mr. Newell alleged that Hazlett, who was also the carpenter for the owner of the building, was making the repairs for the owner, excepting the counter mentioned. Hazlett swore positively that Newell had hired him; gave directions to him from time to time in regard to the work, and said his money would be ready for him as soon as the work was completed. Two other witnesses gave testimony which in some degree corroborated the statement of Mr. Hazlett, and a note from Newell to Hazlett, relative to the work, was given in evidence, as was also the affidavit of defense in the civil case. The attorney who prepared the affidavit, was put upon the stand and explained the circumstances under which it was drawn, which left the inference that the defendant might not have fully understood its import. The defendant also proved an excellent character for truth and veracity. The jury found a verdict of not guilty, and that each party pay one-half the costs.

FELONIOUS ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Commonwealth vs. James Smith and Henry Le Mar; indictment, felonious assault and battery, on oath of Thomas Hamilton. The defendants are colored men, and were indicted for forcibly entering the dwelling house of the prosecutor, on the corner of Webster avenue and Tannehill streets, about midnight of the 24th of March, and shooting him through the arm. Mr. Hamilton testified that he had been entertaining a friend that night, who was in liquor; they had been singing songs, and while thus engaged three colored men opened the door and came in. Hamilton asked them what they wanted, and they did not explain. He then undertook to put them out; and after he had ejected them, and while he stood in his door, one of them drew a pistol and shot him in the left arm, below the shoulder. They then ran away. Smith and Le Mar were arrested the same night. Hamilton identified the defendants as two of the three men who entered his house. The officers who made the arrest testified to having heard the shot, and to seeing the men running towards a vacant lot on the same street. A lady testified to having found a seven barreled revolver only of which was empty. No one saw the shot fired. The defense rested mainly on the fact that the Commonwealth had failed to make out a case, and that the character of the defendants was good. The jury found a verdict of guilty in manner and form as indicted.

LARCENY AND ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Commonwealth vs. Ellie Bennett, Charles Roberts, Rachel Lee and Susan Neill—two indictments—one charging them with assault and battery, and the other with the larceny of a shawl. The prosecutrix, Mrs. Costello, charged the defendants, who reside at "Tinkersville," above Temperanceville, with assaulting her daughter, Mary Costello, aged thirteen years, and stealing a shawl from her. The little girl was called and testified to the assault and the larceny. All the defendants excepting the first named, are children. On trial.

SENT TO THE WORKHOUSE.

George Casey, colored, indicted for the larceny of a pair of pants and two pairs of sleeve buttons, plead guilty, and was sentenced to the Workhouse for one year. In answer to interrogations of the Court, previous to sentence, he stated that he had merely borrowed the articles for the purpose of wearing them to church.

Common Pleas—Judge Stowe.

The first case tried was that of James B. Hill vs. Edward Fretby. Sci. fa. on a mechanic's lien. The plaintiff sought to recover the value of certain lumber alleged to have been furnished for a building owned by the defendant. The defendant proved payment of the amount obtained in full. The jury found a verdict for the defendant.

Central Passenger Railway Company vs. The Oakland Passenger Railway Company. Action to recover compensation for the use of that part of the road extending from the junction of Wylie and Fifth avenues to the corner of of Fourth avenue and Market streets. The Oakland Passenger Railway Company formerly owned the entire route, but made an absolute sale of the entire route to the Minersville Company. It is claimed, however, that the Oakland Company, while approving this sale, reserved the right to run their cars over that part of the line between the Court House and Market street, and agreed to pay two-thirds of the expense in keeping this part of the line in repair, that this understanding was acknowledged and acquiesced in by the Minersville Company until the spring of 1869, when they made an absolute title of the entire road to the Central Passenger Railway Company. The latter Company claim under this absolute title, and bring this action to recover compensation for the use of that part of the road in dispute. The Minersville Company deny that they ever acknowledged or acquiesced in the alleged reservation of the right, on the part of the Oakland Company to use any part of the line. The Central Company claim that the Oakland Company should either pay the sum of $3,000 per year, for the use of the road, or cease to run their cars upon it. The case was still on trial when the Court adjourned.

District Court—Judges Hampton and Kirkpatrick.

The case of Michael Poste vs. Wm. Burns, on trial before Judge Hampton, was settled by the parties.

Judge Kirkpatrick then disposed of the following business:

Dr. John Perchment vs. Stewart McKee. Action to recover damages alleged to have been sustained in consequence of the defendant obstructing the passage of an alley. Defendant's counsel moved for a non-suit, and the Court reserved its decision until the opening of Court this morning.

Frederick Schowacker and wife, and others vs. Geo. Schoet and Joseph Lauvent. Action in ejectment for two lots of ground in East Liberty. The case is on trial.

The following is the trial list for to-day:

97. Haigh & Co., for use vs. Steamer Australia.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

In the case of the United States vs. Louis D. Shields, reported on Saturday, the jury found a verdict of guilty.

The case of the United States vs. Eugene Raffie was next taken up. Defendant was charged with carrying on the business of cigar manufacturer without having a sign indicating his business. A verdict of guilty was rendered, and the Court sentenced defendant to pay a fine of $100 and costs.

The U. S. vs. Wm. Cohen, indicted for selling unstamped cigars, was next taken up. The defendant's counsel entered a plea of insanity, and had summoned several well-known physicians of the city as witnesses. Just as counsel was entering upon his defense, and in the act of calling one of the physicians to the witness stand, Cohen was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit. He fell to the foor, and for some moments was terribly convulsed. The circumstance brought the case to a sudden termination, and a verdict of not guilty was rendered.

Two cases of forfeiture against cigars and tobacco owned by the same defendant, Wm. Cohen. Verdicts were rendered for the claimant. The Court held that the acts of forfeiture must be the acts of a sane person, and hence the cases rested on the same facts as were developed in the previous case.

The next case taken up was that of the United States vs. Wm. Hartman, indicted for carrying on the business of brewer without giving bonds; failing to cancel stamps put on packages containing beer, and not putting stamps over spiggot holes. The case is still on trial.

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—This evening Miss Elise Holt, the "little burlesque queen," and Harry Wall, comedian, will make their first appearance in a burlesque on "Lucretia Borgia." Miss Holt will personate "Gennaro," and Mr. Wall will be the poisoner, Mme. Lucretia. The burlesque is said to have been quite popular wherever produced, and abounding in funny situations and tolerable puns.

CIRCUS.—Gardner & Forepaugh's Circus opened yesterday afternoon on the Red Lion lot, and had a good audience, the tent being crowded in the evening. The entertainment is a pleasing one throughout, the equestrian and gymnastic performances being equal to any we have seen in late years. Sanford's minstrels gave an entertainment at the close of the circus performance, which was much admired. The Circus is open this afternoon and evening.

[Before Mayor Brush.]

TRIVIAL CASES.

Mayor Brush had nineteen cases before him yesterday morning, being the largest number present on Monday morning for at least a year. Some of the more interesting of the cases were as follows:

Joseph Hinds, of Allegheny, for drunkenness and disorderly conduct at the house of Sarah Graist, on Shingiss street, on Sunday afternoon, was fined $25 and costs, upon the payment of which he was released.

Henry Rowe demeaned himself in an unbecoming manner in a car of the Birmingham Passenger Railway on Sunday afternoon, and when the car arrived in front of the Monongahela House, officer Hazen arrested him. Hugh Doyle, a companion of Rowe, interfered, and said that Rowe should not be locked up. As the result both passed the night in the watchhouse, and yesterday morning Rowe was fined five dollars and Doyle ten dollars and costs.

Peter Tonner was arrested for fighting at the Rush House on Sunday, and on the way to the lock-up Frank Swain interfered and attempted to rescue him. He was also taken into custody and locked up. The first paid five and the second ten dollars and costs.

John Michael, Patrick and Peter Quinn, indulged in a fight in the yard attached to John's premises, Twelfth Ward, on Sunday afternoon, the first three being pummeled in a very serious manner. They were arrested, confined in the Twelfth Ward station house, and yesterday morning paid a fine of $5 and costs each.

ALLEGED LARCENY.

Officer Hoag last evening arrested a colored boy giving the name of Joseph Smith, for the larceny of mineral water and sarsaparilla from Buffum's yard on Market street. He was locked up for a hearing this morning.

THROWING STONES.

Officer McMullen arrested a boy named Wm. Phillips last evening, for throwing stones at people passing the upper basin. He will have a hearing this morning.

FROM OLEAN.

Officer Mulvaney last evening found a representative of Olean acting in a disorderly manner on the street. He was arrested and locked up for a hearing. He had twenty-eight dollars on his person.

[Before Deputy Mayor Nichols.]

COOPER'S WAR.

Charles McNichols instituted a suit for assault and battery against John Plunkett. The parties are coopers, and work in the Seventeenth ward. It is alleged that Plunkett upset McNichol's coffee, and when remonstrated with picked up a stave and struck the prosecutor. Plunkett then instituted a cross suit against McNichols, alleging that defendant had threatened to split prosecutor's head open with a hammer. Both parties were arrested, and the cases will come up for a hearing this evening.

THE FIFTEENTH AMENDMENT.

Wm. Powell, a colored man, charged Matthew Forsyth, white, with assault and battery, alleging that defendant threw a stone at prosecutor's boy for saying that his father (Mr. Powell) was going to vote at the next election. A warrant was issued for the arrest of defendant.

MISSING QUILTING FRAMES.

Mrs. A. G. King instituted a suit for larceny by bailee against Mrs. Marshall, alleging that defendant has in her possession a pair of quilting frames belonging to the prosecutrix and refused to give them up. The accused was arrested and held for a hearing.

[Before Alderman Taylor.]

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Peter Knipper was arrested and held for a hearing to answer a charge of assault and battery, preferred by Margaret Shehan, who alleges that defendant struck her with a wooden poker.

[Before Alderman Thomas.]

ILL REPUTE.

A partial hearing was held in the case of John Owen against Mary Reiley, who charges that Mary keeps a house of ill repute in State alley.

[Before Alderman McMasters.]

ALLEGED FALSE PRETENCES.

Thomas Heley was yesterday arrested and committed to jail to answer a charge of false pretences, preferred by Robert Megraw. Megraw alleges that Heley obtained five hundred dollars of him by falsely representing that he had that amount of money in the Mechanics' Savings Bank.

TAKEN TO THE WORK HOUSE.—John Daniels and George Casey were taken to the work house yesterday on a sentence of one year each. Six vagrants were also taken to the same institution.

ALLEGHENY.

ON DIT.—That an effort will be made at an early day to provide for a central alarm bell. Until an alarm bell is provided, we shall regard the system as incomplete.

HORSE KILLED.—Saturday afternoon, a valuable horse, belonging to W. W. Patrick, Esq., of Brinton, near Sewickley, ran off, came in contact with a paling fence and impaled itself, dying almost instantly.

SKIFF STOLEN.—Some person or persons unknown, stole a skiff from Mr. Charles Cummings, of Bruno's Island valued at $30. The theft was committed on the 5th instant. The police are upon the track of the suspected thief.

REPORTED ESCAPE.—There is a report current to the effect that Warner, the young man who was convicted of robbing a dry goods store on Market street, and who was sentenced to the Work House eleven months, made his escape from that institution on Sunday.

RENOVATED.—The apartments under the charge of Captain Kennedy have been thoroughly cleaned and white-washed. Their present appearance will compare very favorably with the majority of kitchens in this part of the country, and as far as cleanliness can, will contribute much to the comfort of the callers.

COMPLETED AT LAST.—After several weeks of hard work, Superintendent McCandless has at last completed the extension of the Fire Alarm Telegraph to the corner of Madison avenue and East Lane, and the box so much needed in that vicinity is now on the circuit. Box No. 7, formerly located at Ohio avenue and Fulton street, has been removed to Fayette and Fulton, near the Fifth ward public schools.

SLIGHT FIRES.—The alarm of fire sounded from box 37 yesterday morning, was occasioned by the burning of some household goods at No. 10 on Morgan street. The Columbia was on the ground but did not go into service.

At an early hour yesterday morning smoke was discovered issuing from the watch tower of the Penitentiary. The fire was confined to the wood work, and was extinguished without much difficulty.

TESTED.—The section of hose sent on for trial from Philadelphia a few weeks ago, was tested Saturday afternoon in the presence of Chief Engineer Crow, the Mayor and a number of city officials. The steamer Friendship was employed to test the hose, which burst under a pressure of two hundred and ten pounds, with a nozzle seven-eighths of an inch in diameter. With an inch nozzle the hose burst under two hundred pounds pressure, giving way each time at the seam.

CITY PROPERTY.—The Council Committee on City Property held a meeting last evening and agreed to recommend that Councils should appropriate five hundred dollars to pay the rent of an armory for the Heath Zouaves. The Committee also examined the plan for the extension of the City Hall, to provide additional accommodation for the Controller and City Engineer. The Committee will also recommend to Councils that trees be planted around the City Hall.

AT WORK AGAIN.—The burglars were at work again last Saturday night. This time they devoted their attention to Thomas Hall's cigar store, on Beaver street, in the Second ward. The rogues succeeded in securing between $40 and $50 dollars in money, and some of the best brands of Mr. Hall's cigars. The thieves must have operated very quietly, as there were a number of people in the neighborhood of the premises up to within a short time of the burglary. No clue has been obtained of the burglars.

A COWARDLY AFFAIR.—Sunday afternoon, as a young gentleman was walking quietly home from church on the Butcher's Run road, he was accosted by a ruffian who demanded that the young man should treat himself and two companions. The prompt refusal to accede to the novel demand was met with a knock-down argument, all three of the cowardly ruffians attacking the young man at one time. He was beaten severely. It would be well for the police to take a stroll up the road Sundays.

Police Intelligence.

[Before Mayor Callow, of Allegheny.]

But one common case was brought before the Mayor yesterday morning. The case was dismissed.

A REGULAR SNARL.

U. P. Duffey, a dog fancier and veterinery surgeon, undertook to separate two dogs which were so thoroughly mixed up that it was difficult to tell 'tother from which. Said dogs were not interfering in any manner with Duffey, who undertook to part them by picking one up under each arm, when one of the dogs unclasped his teeth from the other dog, and fastened them in Duffey's lip, making a very ugly wound. Duffey came before the Mayor with a complaint, the Mayor ordered the dog to be shot, and John Knoll, owner of the dog, sued Duffey for hurling a brick at him. And all about a dog fight.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Thomas McLavin entered a complaint against John Kinney for assault and battery. The parties boarded with one Patton, who resides at Woods Run. Kinney got deep in his cups, came home, attacked McLavin, pulled him out of his bed, jumped upon his face and and body, and bruised him severely. His face and hands showed severe handling. A warrant was issued for Kinney's arrest.

"HOW IS THAT FOR HIGH?"

A drover came before the Mayor seeking advice. Six weeks ago he alleges he was arrested and taken before Alderman Lindsey, charged with violating a city ordinance. He drove stock into the city on Sunday. Lindsey fined him $25. The drover thought it rather a steep proceeding. The act of April 26, 1855, provides for a fine of $25, but reads as though no one but Mayors and Burgesses are authorized to impose it. Previous to the passage of this act the limit was $4. At last accounts, the oppressed individual had not got the justice of the proceeding through his hair.

LADIES' BIBLE SOCIETY.

FORTIETH ANNUAL MEETING.

Interesting Report of the Work of the Society—Election of Officers and Managers for the Ensuing Year.

The Ladies' Bible Society of Allegheny held its fortieth annual meeting on Monday, the 4th inst., in the lecture room of Dr. Swift's church.

THE ANNUAL REPORT.

Rev. George P. Hays read the following report, which was adopted:

"Forty years with their changeful scenes have passed away, and still, in the kind Providence of God, our Society is sustained, and enabled to continue its work of distributing the word of life, which is the revelation of that "true light which lighteth every man that cometh into the world."

In looking at the past we are ready to exclaim, What hath God wrought? Millions of our race in this land, who a few years ago were in a measure denied the privilege of reading this word, are now not only freed from bondage, but the way opened for an education which will fit them for the Scriptures of truth. And but recently Christian hearts have throbbed with emotions of delight at the call of some of the wisest and best men of our country, men noted for their talent, as well as piety, and whose call is, "Let the word of God be the standard by which our laws shall be made and our nation governed."

In forty years we should, and we have taken some advanced steps. True, the enemy of mankind has been and is still on the alert. Well does that enemy know that when the pure and holy teachings of the Bible enter the heart of man he can no longer retain his dominion over him.

We regret to record that an effort instigated, as we believe, by this malevolent spirit, has been made to dismiss the Bible from our public institutions of learning. Let this be accomplished and well may the friends of our common morality tremble, for although men are unwilling to acknowledge it, yet the Bible and morals are inseparably linked together.

Most, if not all, of those who were present at the organization of this Society have passed away: they have ceased from their labors; God has accepted of their work. But is there not even work for our hands to perform? is not the coming of Christ's blessed kingdom nearer? It may be that our eyes will not behold it, but yet we may help to prepare the way, and the Master may say of each of us, "She hath done what she could." Although our labors for the past year have not been so successful as we could have wished them to be, yet liberal hearts among us have been devising liberal things, and it was proposed at our second meeting this year to engage Bible readers, encouraged by the success of this work in New York city, where thirty-five Bible-women are daily employed, and also in the city of London, where there are two hundred and fifty employed in like manner. We have already commenced our labors in this form, and are especially impelled to its prosecution, from a knowledge of the painful fact that there are many among us who live daily neglecting to read God's word, the precious promises of which are so well suited to comfort, and cheer the heart amid the varied trials of life. There are hands which hang down to be lifted up, there are feeble knees to be sustained, there are mothers to whom a word may be spoken in season, there are tender little ones who may be taken by the hand, and led to the Sabbath School, and their parents induced to attend the worship of God's house; thus a helping hand may be given to those who are fainting by the way, and some may be saved who are ready to perish. The temporal as well as the spiritual wants of those who may require such help will be attended to, this Society being in harmony with the Relief Society of this city.

Although our Bible woman's work has been in operation for a short time, yet we have related by her some cheering incidents; one of an old man, a German, who had received a tract from the tract distributer some time before. He had read the tract and kept it carefully wrapped in paper; now that he was able to converse with the Bible readers in his own language, he opened his heart to her, telling her his greatest comfort was in reading this tract. On her visiting him a second time she found him on his knees engaged in prayer, with the "American Messenger" lying open before him. We are determined to go on engaging other Bible women, knowing that our generous christian friends will cheerfully respond to our call for increased support, and hoping that this work now commenced, will become one of the efficacious influences which will go on steadily, until every home in this land shall be sanctified to God by the reading of his word and by prayer.

During this year we have made one life director by the appropriation of one hundred and fifty dollars. One dozen of Bibles have been donated to a Mission Sabbath School on Troy Hill; one Testament with Psalms, eight Bibles and one Testament have been given by the tract distributors and others. Our collections for the year have been $326. Bibles and Testaments sold $9 65.

A vote of thanks was returned by the society to Rev. J. McMillan, who presided, and also to Rev. George P. Hays for his impressive and eloquent annual sermon preached in Rev. Dr. Clark's church, at which was secured the large collection of $108 65.

LOSS OF A VALUABLE HORSE.—About eight o'clock yesterday morning, a driver employed by Messrs. Joseph Graff & Co., proprietors of the shovel and ax factory, on the corner of Main and Chestnut streets, in the Fourth ward, drove his horse and cart to the bank of the river, between the Mechanics street and Railroad bridge, for the purpose of dumping a load of dirt. In doing this, the horse and cart were precipitated over the bank. The horse struggled violently, and at the end of some moments succeeded in freeing himself from the harness, but his efforts to reach the shore again were futile. The horse was valued at $300.

GARROTED.—Saturday night, between ten and eleven o'clock, as a man named Wm. Rose was walking along Sandusky street, he was suddenly attacked by three men, who proceeded to garrote him. Mr. Rose's cries brought a young man to his aid, when the garroter's fled, carrying off their spoils. The amount stolen is not known.

SOUTH SIDE.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The East Birmingham Council will hold a meeting this evening.

UNMAILABLE LETTER.—A letter addressed to Miss Ella McCandles, La Harper, Hancock county, Ill., is detained at the Birmingham Postoffice for want of prepayment of postage.

A STRIKE.—The boys employed in Challener, McCombs & Co's., Pittsburgh Glasshouse, in Birmingham, are on a strike in consequence of a proposed reduction of five cents on each "turn" on which they are employed.

COMMENCED BUSINESS.—As will be observed by reference to another column, E. G. Krehan, Esq., recently elected Justice of the Peace of Birmingham, has commenced business at No. 1113 Carson street. He will no doubt make a good magistrate.

Police Intelligence.

[Before Justice Heisel, of East Birmingham.]

ALLEGED FELONIOUS ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

Thomas Michael came before Justice Heisel yesterday and in behalf of his son, Joseph preferred a charge of felonious assault and battery against David Walker. According to the allegation of the complainant, it seems that a difficulty occurred on Saturday night between a crowd of young men on Carson, above Page street, East Birmingham. Walker belonged to one party and Michael to another. Both it seems were drunk, and during the melee young Michael was stabbed in the abdomen by a knife, as is alleged, in the hands of Walker. The accused was arrested and on giving bail was released. It is but just to state that he denies the cutting and claims to have been sinned against rather than sinning, averring that one of his companions was knocked down, kicked and then thrown over a fence by one of the party to which young Michael belonged. A cross suit will in all probability be preferred against Michael and some of his party, and at the hearing which is to take place in a few days, it is expected all the facts will be developed. Young Michael, who is about nineteen years of age, resides in Larkins' alley. A physician attends him.

[Before Justice Krehan, of Birmingham.]

ALLEGED SEDUCTION.

Christopher Teufel visited the office of Justice Krehan, of Birmingham yesterday, and lodged complaint against Henry Best charging him with seduction under promise of marriage. The alleged offense was committed with a daughter of deponent, who is not yet nineteen years of age. On Tuesday last a child was born, and then it was that the girl informed her parents of the name of her betrayer. Best was arrested and taken to the office of the magistrate, but he peremptorily refused to make any reparation, alleging that none was necessary. He denied in the most emphatic terms that any promise of marriage had been made, but it seems he did not go back of the "soft impeachment," that he was the parent of the child. In default of bail he was sent to jail to await trial.

Newspaper Statements.

HOW THE PEOPLE TEST THEIR TRUTH.

This is not an age when people believe or trust what ever they see in the public journals. Fifty or sixty years ago when the accuracy of a statement that had appeared in one of the gazettes or "News Letters" of the day, was questioned, it was considered a sufficient answer to all cavil to say, "It must be so, for I read it in the newspaper." It is not so now. Newspaper assertions must be verified before they are taken for granted, and this is especially the case as regards statements setting forth the remedial properties of proprietary medicines. For example: it was not until the tonic and alterative properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters had been deliberately and thoroughly tested by thousands and found to be in perfect accord with the printed claims put forth in its behalf, that it was accepted by the public at large as a Standard Remedy. But when multitudes who had resorted to it as a safeguard against malarious fevers, a cure for indigestion and biliousness, a means of strengthening the frame, cheering the spirits and imparting constitutional vigor, came forward and testified that its beneficial effects had exceeded their most sanguine expectations, of course the world believed. To resist such proofs was impossible. Great care has been taken from the beginning not to overstate the merits of the Bitters. Exaggeration and bombast have been the death of many preparations that might otherwise have survived. They were "weighed in the balance and found wanting." Hostetter's Bitters, on the contrary, have never been announced in grandiloquent language as a cure for every bodily ill, but simply as a pure harmless vegetable specific, possessing remarkable invigorating, regulating, antibilious and antiseptic properties. This is exactly what the public know the medicine to be, and its enormous sales is an argument in its favor.

The Golden Rule.

The golden rule for those who are suffering from lung disease of any sort is to take medicine in time. It will not do to put off, from day to day, the use of a medicine which has been known to cure some of the most stubborn diseases of the lungs to which we are liable. That medicine is DR. KEYSER'S LUNG CURE. Infallible in the first stages of lung diseases, very often a cure in the intermediate stage, and an alleviant in the last stages of pulmonary consumption.

The cost of a bottle is a mere trifle, and many an one has been snatched from an untimely grave by heeding the salutary advice here recorded. Dr. Keyser's Lung Cure is the "sine qua non" of lung medicines, and the use of a single bottle will always do good, can never do harm, and will cure an ordinary cough in less than a day. Dr. Keyser's principal office for lung and other obstinate chronic diseases is 167 Liberty street.

A FACT FOR PHYSIOLOGISTS.

It is a singular fact, that in this enlightened age and country, the treatment usually adopted by the Faculty in cases of Dyspepsia (Indigestion), is the result of a false theory, indicating a lamentable ignorance of the physiology of the stomach and digestive organs, and is in most instances calculated to establish and confirm the malady it is intended to remove. The Secretary of the Philadelphia Botanic Institute will feel pleasure in forwarding (free) to all applicants, the excellent botanic remedy for indigestion, bilious and liver complaints, recently discovered by Professor Walker, of Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, and communicated to the Institute by that distinguished botanist. The Medical Reform Society, at whose cost these announcements appear, wish it to be distinctly understood that they will not, in any shape nor under any circumstances whatever, accept any contribution, fee or gratuity, for this recipe, the object of the society being to demonstrate the superiority of the botanic over every other practice of medicine, and in return only desire that those who may be signally benefitted by it will forward to the Society a statement of the case, and thus aid with facts in accelerating the present movement in favor of medical reform. Inclose a directed envelope to the Secretary Botanic Institute, 816 South Fifteenth street, Philadelphia, Pa.

A Book that Everybody Should Have.

Wells' Every Man His Own Lawyer, and Business Form Book

Is a complete and reliable guide in all matters of law and business transactions for EVERY STATE IN THE UNION.

THE ENTIRE LEADING PRESS OF THE COUNTRY unqualifiedly indorse the work. We make a few short extracts from the press:

"As a legal adviser, always at hand to instruct the reader how to proceed in suits and business transactions of every and all kinds; as a form book to enable the least learned to draw up deeds, mortgages, agreements, leases, orders, wills, etc.; as a guide with regard to the laws of the various States concerning exemptions, liens, limitation of actions, collection of debts, usury and so on, this volume is certainly invaluable to men of business, and it is not surprising that a hundred thousand copies have so soon found their way into the homes and country houses of the multitude. In addition, the work contains a full digest of the action of the Government relative to reconstruction and the freedmen, the General Bankrupt Law, the Patent Laws, Pension Laws, the Homestead Laws, the Internal Revenue Laws, etc. The publisher has determined to make this work complete, and, to our thinking, he has succeeded. No business man or woman can with safety be without it."—New York Times.

"This work is one of the most valuable issues of the press of this country. It contains so much that every man in business should know, but which none have the time to acquire from voluminous works, that it is truly indispensable."—New York Dispatch.

"Such a useful book cannot be too highly commended. A more comprehensive digest could not be desired."—New York Weekly Tribune.

"There should be a copy of it in every family."—New York Weekly.

"The most implicit confidence can be placed upon the work as authority on all the subjects of which it treats."—Philadelphia Age.

"You can purchase in this book what may be worth hundreds of dollars to you."—St. Louis Dispatch.

"It contains just the kind of information every business man stands most in need of."—Sunday Mercury.

The utility of such a work, no one will now question. The sale of hundreds of thousands of copies, and the constant demand for it, have settled that point. The professional man, the farmer, the mechanic, the manufacturer, the soldier, the sailor, each requires a convenient, comprehensive and reliable work which will enable him to draw up any instrument in writing that may be required in a legal form, which will furnish such legal information as is called for in the various avocations of life, a book that everybody can understand, and that will enable every man or woman to be his or her own lawyer.

There is no class of the community, male or female, who have or expect to have any property, or who have any rights or privileges which require protection, who will not be greatly benefitted and advantaged by the possession of this book. It will save them money, save them trouble, save them time, save them litigation and lawyers' fees, and give them information that nobody can afford to be without.

The work is published 12mo. 630 pages. Price, in Cabinet Library Binding, $2 25. Sent postpaid on receipt of price.

Good, reliable Agents wanted everywhere. They will find this one of the best selling works published. Liberal inducements given. For full descriptive Circular and terms, address
